Bank Managers' School Headed By George Hicks

George D. Hicks, a Newport News banker, has been elected president of the first class in the Virginia Bankers' Association's three-year School of Bank Management. Other officers of the class, which will graduate in 1961, are Walter R. Hudson, of Orange, vice president, and William R. Neal, Jr., of Richmond, secretary. Hudson is assistant cashier of the National Bank of Orange, and Neal is assistant cashier of State-Planters Bank of Commerce and Trusts in Richmond. Hicks will serve as an advisory member of the Virginia Bankers' School trustees. He is manager of the credit department of the First National Bank of Newport News. Classes in the new school opened Monday, August 24, and ended Friday, August 28. The school is one of three educational programs the VBA conducted this week on the University of Virginia campus for more than 200 bankers. The new school of Bank Management, which is limited to 50 students, is an "unqualified success," according to Robert H. Daniel, of Roanoke, chairman of the VBA's School Trustees. Daniel, a vice president of the First National Exchange Bank of Roanoke, said, "We have seen this week the beginning of a strong, academic training program of junior bank officers... the men who some day will be running Virginia's banks."

Farmers Have One More Week For Crop Shares

Mr. W. F. Hunger, Chairman of the Princess Anne County Committee, has just announced that the sign-up period for cover crops, lime and permanent pasture cost-shares will reopen for four days, September 8 through 11, which is the balance of the Labor Day week. Mr. Hunger explained that under the program, a farmer may receive up to 50 per cent of the costs of seeding, fertilizing and liming cover crops and pastures planted this fall. He may also graze the cover crop, such as rye, crimson clover or winter oats, provided he turns under the remainder next spring. He said the purpose of reopening the sign-up period was to provide an opportunity to farmers who didn't hear about the first sign-up in July to get in their requests before they plant. Planting of fall crops in Princess Anne County is usually 80 per cent completed by Oct. 1. The ASC Office, in the Princess Anne Courthouse Annex, will receive requests for cost-sharing between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Sept. 8 through 11.

New Teaching Aid Introduced By Virginia Beach High School

Principal James A. Johnson, Jr., of the Virginia Beach High School has announced that a teaching aid, new public schools in this area will be used in the mathematics classes during the coming year. This innovation is called a "Venetian Blind." This teaching aid was designed by Colonel William M. Mack for use in a military school and he and Mr. Johnson have collaborated on the work on having one made for use in the mathematics classes. It consists of a movable stand on which are mounted seven wooden slats four inches wide similar to the regular venetian blind used in the home. The successive steps in a problem in Geometry or Algebra are prepared in advance of the class and placed on the blinds. At the start the problem is turned so that the work does not show. As the instructor proceeds with the problem the slats are turned one by one so the class can see the problem is visible. The advantages are numerous in the use of this aid. It saves the time of writing the steps on a blackboard and it is interesting to the student. It permits the teacher to concentrate on the presentation rather than on writing on the blackboard with the chance of error. It also permits the easy handling of a visual aid while the steps are flashed to the class. This teaching aid is adaptable to any subject in which there are successive steps to be covered. As a result, it is felt that more of these "Venetian Blinds" will be used in the school in the future.

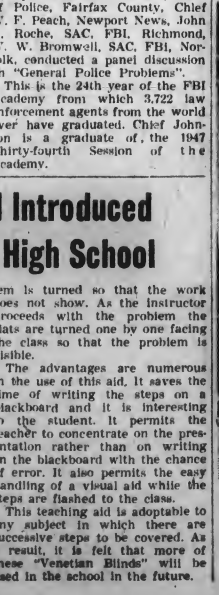

Two Marines Charged in Incident Involving Virginia Beach Woman Pharmacist; Both Assigned to Same Ship, According to Record

Formal charges were filed Tuesday in Princess Anne County against two Marine Corps enlisted men for armed robbery in connection with an incident Friday night that involved a Virginia Beach woman pharmacist, according to Princess Anne County Detective R. H. Stone. Sergeant Stone stated that the pair are Donald D. Melnick, 21, of Akron, Ohio, and Anthony Spadavecchi, 27, of Jersey City, N.J. The pair is charged with robbing Mrs. Russell Simpson Jr., an employee of a Virginia Beach drug store. Spadavecchi was taken into custody by Stone early Tuesday. Melnick remains in the USS Northampton sick bay. Both men are attached to the ship, a Navy spokesman said. Melnick was treated for a gunshot wound in the left leg the day after the incident and again the following Monday in the USS Northampton sick bay. A Navy spokesman said Melnick first said the wound had been received "in an argument involving another woman." Later, however, he made a statement regarding the incident in Princess Anne County and involved Spadavecchi. Mrs. Simpson told Stone a car carrying two men followed her as she left the drug store Friday night about 11 o'clock. She said the car cut her off as she attempted to turn into the driveway of her Stumpy Lake home. One of the men she said knocked a hole in the window of her car with the butt of his pistol then reached in and unlocked it. She had a 32-caliber pistol beside her on the car seat. "He jumped in on top of me and started fighting. His gun went off four times. My gun went off from my right to my left hand and he held it so I couldn't fire it," she said the next day. Mrs. Simpson said the man's companion reached into the back seat of her car and picked up a paper sack. Then both men got into their car and departed. She said her husband, a pharmacist at Medical Arts Pharmacy in Norfolk, was asleep at the time and "was awakened by the men in the direction of Mears Corner but they outran him."

'Confederacy' May Not Rise Again Due to Poor Attendance

"The Confederacy" has been "poorly attended" by Tidewater residents this season, Henry Clay Hoffheimer II, co-chairman of the drama, said Tuesday. Regarding plans next year for the outdoor drama which is now finishing its second season, Hoffheimer said he hoped that "The Confederacy" will rise again. However, he made it plain that greater support from the area will be needed if it does. It was clear from the inception of the drama, which depicts the life of Robert E. Lee, that the backers were aiming to keep the show open until 1961, the 100th anniversary of the Civil War. Only four more performances remain to be given this season. The show closes Labor Day night and plans for next year will be discussed this fall or winter, Hoffheimer said. The backbone of support for "The Confederacy" this year came from persons outside the Tidewater area. Hoffheimer indicated. During recent weeks, members of "The Confederacy" cast and others have speculated that the show might not open in its present form next year. On many nights the cast has consisted of a handful of persons. The show never really recovered from a rainy spell during July. Despite extensive changes this was asserted.

Kitchen Inspection

New Subdivision Makes Debut in Princess Anne

A new type subdivision has made its debut with the opening of Princess Anne Mobile Homes, Inc. on a 50-acre tract 4 1/2 miles southeast of Virginia Beach boulevard and Chinese Corner. S. J. Paris and A. L. Bonney are president and treasurer, respectively, of the company. Paris said more than 60 mobile homes can be accommodated on the tract which has city water and sewage and other suburban conveniences, including paved streets, curbs, and underground electric conduits. A $40,000 administration building will double as a community center. It is equipped with automatic laundry and pressing equipment and other facilities. The most persisting speculation about the outlook for "The Confederacy" next year is that it may play a limited engagement in order to hold over for the 100th anniversary of the Civil War. Meantime, it was suggested that the Robert E. Lee Amphitheatre might be used more extensively for jazz festivals, concerts, musical shows and perhaps a resident stock company with local talent beefed up with imported stars. The formula has worked well elsewhere, it was asserted.

What every man should ask himself on Labor Day

If you're like most Americans, you're working to make a dream come true.

Maybe it's to bring your son up to be a doctor . . . or to buy a home in the country . . . or to go into business for yourself. Whatever it is, it's going to cost money. And that's where the big question comes in.

Will the money be there? Even though you'll earn enough over the years to make your dream come true—will you have enough?

You can be sure of answering "yes"—if you save. Regular saving is the surest road to the things you want for the future. And you can take a tip from over 40 million fellow Americans: there's no better, easier, more satisfying way to save than U.S. Savings Bonds.

Bonds help you—and America

You can buy Bonds automatically through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work; or you can buy them where you bank. Either way, you'll be amazed at how fast they mount up, bringing your dream closer to reality every day. And your Bonds will be doing another big job at the same time—providing urgently needed money in America's effort to keep the peace.

Today over 40 million Americans own almost $43 billion in U.S. Savings Bonds. How about you? Are you buying Bonds—and buying as many as you should?

WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING

On Getting Along Without

A few days ago, many a hard-pressed automobile owner was praising the House Ways and Means Committee for standing firm on the matter of the Interstate Highway Fund. Against heavy pressure, the committee stoutly refused to sanction an increase in the Federal gasoline tax, or to approve a scheme of short-term revenue bonds.

This was a few days ago. Late last week the pressure proved too great, and the committee caved in. By a vote of 16-9, the committee agreed to kick the motorist in the teeth again; if its recommendation is adopted, the Federal tax on gasoline will increase on September 1 by one-third, and the average motorist, purchasing 500 gallons of gasoline annually, will have another $5 bill plucked from his pocket every year.

In itself, the sum is inconsequential. But the committee's proposal would add just that much more to a total tax burden that becomes more and more burdensome all the time. This year alone, the wage earner has seen his social security tax climb from $94.50 to $120. Many states have increased their gasoline and sales taxes. Here at home, local utility taxes are climbing. The man who is struggling to care for his family finds himself surrounded by swarms of tax collectors; it is like being nibbled to death by ducks.

To be sure, there is no reason to make a fetish of blindly opposing all tax increases anywhere. The essential requirements of government have to be met; there may be imperative reasons, especially at the local level, for particular tax boosts to pay for particular community programs.

But we see nothing imperative in the Federal Interstate Highway program. Conceived in 1956, the plan envisioned a 42,000-mile network of super-highways, to be completed by 1972. Originally a $27 billion undertaking, the plan now is estimated at $40 billion. The trust fund established under the 1956 act is not sufficient to meet these goals. Hence the proposed hike in taxes.

Well, why not change the goals? The 16-year schedule is not sacrosanct. The map of 42,000 miles is not like the law of the Medes and the Persians. A close second look at designs and standards might turn up acceptable economies here and there.

A suggestion is in order to members of Congress that they bring to the budgeting of public funds the same prudent criteria that wage earners the country over constantly apply to their private paychecks. What does a family have to have? And what, asks the head of the household, can we get along without? It is a homely question, but it has to be faced if bankruptcy is to be avoided.

Up in Washington, the view of the Congress seems to be that the people have to have everything; they can do without nothing. It is a handsome way to feel. But if it is all the same to the Congress, we would as happily wait 20 years, instead of 16, for these interstate speedways to come into being. A further tax increase is one thing, thank you, we can do without nicely just now.

Sunday School Class Enjoys Beach Outing

Fifteen 'teen agers, members of Jesse B. Rawls Sunday School class, of the Burkeville Memorial Methodist church, Burkeville, Va., had its second annual outing at Virginia Beach, putting up at the Martha Washington Hotel, last Saturday and Sunday. They came down in one of Mr. Rawls' big moving vans riding in hay-ride style. They spent both days on the beach and in the surf, leaving for home well blistered and sunburned. A bit sore some admitted, they claimed it was worth it and would not hesitate to do it again. Most of these young folks paid their own way, but stated that Mr. Rawls' big truck certainly cut down the bills.

The young people were in charge of Mr. Rawls and the chaplain was the charming Mrs. Boswell.

In the evening Rev. Robert Gilliam and his wife appeared on the scene to aid in making their young charges happy and gay. Some of the members came from the town of Creswell.

Before going into the ministry Rev. Gilliam, a graduate in engineering from the University of Virginia, spent some years in the Navy. He saw considerable service being assigned to the USS Lulu (AKA). For a time he was attached to the Pentagon in Washington. Before him was a brilliant career but the call to Holy Orders proved so strong he resigned and took up his ministerial studies at Crozier Theological Seminary, Chester, Pa. Today he is in charge of four small churches in the Burkeville area and now all are showing improvement in every way. Membership is growing and he manages to get around among the members frequently. Both he and Mrs. Gilliam are people who have had much experience in dealing with people.

The party consisted of Rev. and Mrs. Gilliam, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse B. Rawls, Mrs. Craddock H. Boswell, Jane Gilliam, Freida Baykin, Betty Lou Cook, Wayne Collins, Thomas Marling, James King, Richard Gregory, Floyd Clingenbell, Tommy King, Benny Morris, Robin Gilliam, Mary Clarke Kempke, Martha Ann Morris all of Burkeville and James Foote, Barbara Jean Shell, Mary Ann Wheary and Carol Roberts of Creswell.

While the 417th Transportation Company (Terminal Service) has been performing this vital mission as a part of the lifeline of the warning system, designed to protect North America from sneak attack, the mission has also been training for their role in the event of mobilization. Should another D-Day come, the 417th like many other Transportation Corps units stands ready to be deployed to any port or beach in the world, where they can integrate with completely mobile teams, like Subterminal DEWLINE, to operate under conditions providing fixed facilities or requiring a completely self-sustaining water terminal team.

NEW POST ENGINEER
Lieutenant Colonel Raymond F. Fisher reported to Fort Story recently, becoming the Post Engineer. He replaces Captain George W. Shredner who has been transferred to Germany.

The new Engineer comes to Fort Story from Nurnberg, Germany, where he was also Post Engineer. A native of Oregon, Lt. Col. Fisher graduated from Washington State College and entered the field of mining and geophysical prospecting. He entered the Army in 1942 and has been with the Corps of Engineers ever since.

When the Korean conflict broke out, Lt. Col. Fisher was stationed in Japan and immediately went to Korea with the 8th Engineer Construction Battalion.

The Colonel lives at Fort Story with his wife and three sons.

FORT STORY TELLINGS

STORY UNITS RETURN FROM FAR NORTH

The 417th Transportation Company (Terminal Service) of Fort Story arrived at Hampton Roads Army Terminal today, the first of the U.S. Army units to return from the Arctic, where the unit has been performing a cargo operation in support of the U.S. Air Force.

Operating from the USNS Lindswald, a Landing Ship, Dock, of the Military Sea Transportation Service, the 417th T Company departed from Hampton Roads Army Terminal in late July, and have rendezvoused with cargo-carrying ships off the remote beaches of the Arctic area, where the USAF maintains DEWLINE (Distant Early Warning Line) sites as well as stations of the various communications systems operated throughout Newfoundland, Labrador, Baffin Island and Greenland.

Commanded by Captain Raymond L. Johnson, the 417th Terminal Service Company has been a part of Subterminal DEWLINE, commanded by Lt. Col. Gilbert A. Monti, of the USA Transportation Terminal Command, Arctic, and has been delivering cargo, and products and electronic supplies to remote USAF stations throughout Greenland and the Northeast Area.

Timing of cargo arrival, and completion of the over-the-beach operation has been a vital factor in the summer mission of the Fort Story soldier-transporters for the necessary resupply of the remote sites had to be accomplished within the relatively short summer shipping season which occurs in the Arctic and sub-Arctic areas. Even under the best conditions, cargo delivery operations are then hampered by fog-shrouded beaches, with the water approaches often needed with bergs and ice.

Scheme of maneuver for the 417th has been to discharge the myriad of items of cargo, needed for the year-round life of the communications site, to U.S. Army Landing Craft, Medium, and the BARCs, the amphibious behemoth "swimming" truck of the Transportation Corps, for unloading at the undeveloped beaches and to then deliver the cargo to supply personnel of the communications station, sometimes as far as 10 miles inland.

While the 417th Transportation Company (Terminal Service) has been performing this vital mission as a part of the lifeline of the warning system, designed to protect North America from sneak attack, the mission has also been training for their role in the event of mobilization. Should another D-Day come, the 417th like many other Transportation Corps units stands ready to be deployed to any port or beach in the world, where they can integrate with completely mobile teams, like Subterminal DEWLINE, to operate under conditions providing fixed facilities or requiring a completely self-sustaining water terminal team.

BATTALION HAS NEW CO.

Lieutenant Colonel Jack W. Tooley, who recently arrived from duty in Okinawa, took command of Fort Story's Tenth Transportation Battalion this week.

The new Commander replaced Major R. J. Scherberger, who assumed command of the battalion in April. The Major will remain with the battalion as executive officer.

Before coming to Fort Story, Colonel Tooley was director of the Military Port in Okinawa. He has also been in terminal operations at Honolulu, as instructor at the Transportation School and a student at the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

During World War II he served in Europe with the Quartermaster Corps and integrated into the Transportation Corps in 1946. After the war he served in Hawaii and Japan.

The new Battalion Commander now resides with his wife and son at Fort Story.

FARMERS NEED TO WEAR LIME-FERTILIZER GLOVE

Fertilizer and lime fit together like a hand in a glove, complementing each other in soil and plant production. Neither can function satisfactorily without the constituents of the other.

Part of the nitrogen and most of the phosphoric acid contained in fertilizer will be "tied up" or made unavailable to plants growing in a soil that is highly acid. Availability of other nutrients is also affected by soil acidity. From the opposite point of view, it would be pure folly to properly lime a soil to bring about the desirable reaction for good plant growth and not apply adequate amount of fertilizer to supply plant needs. Therefore, in soil fertility, we need to apply lime to promote the desired reaction or pH level and sufficient fertilizer or material to provide the plants with the needs for high levels of yield.

Gala Fireworks Display to Herald Closing of Amusement Park Here

Fireworks—the audio-visual delight of all from the very young to the very old—will provide a fitting farewell spectacle for the closing of the Virginia Beach Amusement Park on the closing night of the season Labor Day.

Aside from the fireworks display, there will be many other Labor Day attractions which will permit the holiday visitor to make a full day of it at Virginia Beach's outstanding amusement park.

Bathing at Seaside Park is unsurpassed, and the park itself offers a variety of inducements. A big roof covers the park's midway.

sheltering the visitor from sun and rain, and there are rides, games, novelty booths, and air-conditioned refreshment bars aplenty. Picnickers too will find tables and benches in strategic shady spots for their convenience.

The season's last Free Attraction is Pat Barrett, with his thrilling display of aerial balancing. He may be seen twice daily, at 2:30 and 9:30 p.m., and on Sunday Bob and Chaucery, the ventriloquist and his dummy, from WBAR-TV, will give their last free performance of the season during the afternoon show.

Admission to Seaside Park is free.

Cancer Prevention Study To Be Held

A cancer prevention study, the largest such project ever attempted in America, will be carried out this fall by the American Cancer Society. Its purpose is to discover why some people get cancer more frequently than others.

This and other questions will be answered in the study involving more than one million Americans. It is the first such large-scale family prospective survey ever undertaken. The project will take six years to complete, will be conducted with the assistance of 50,000 trained American Cancer Society volunteers. Each of the 50,000 volunteer research workers will visit 10 households which he or she can expect to trace for the following six years. Each family would be reported on, annually. In addition to answering an original questionnaire, each person will be asked to fill out forms with supplementary information every two years. In the event of death, the cause will be ascertained by American Cancer Society physicians.

Death certificates and medical records. Supplemental information will be obtained from the doctor who signed the death certificate. If volunteer researchers were not available to handle the field work, the project would cost many millions of dollars.

The study, under direction of Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, American Cancer Society director of special research, aims to probe the effect of environment on cancer and will attempt to learn more about symptoms of the disease to help improve early detection.

Dr. Hammond said one of the most valuable products of the study would be knowledge that could forewarn certain persons that they are more likely to fall prey to cancer. "For this purpose," he said, "it is not necessary to know the underlying reason for an association. It is only necessary that we know that such a relationship does exist." He said the study may yield information of medical importance aside from the problem of cancer although it is designed primarily to obtain information related to the disease. Analysis will be made of all physical complaints and other factors in relation to all causes of death.

One major objective of the study is to find out what percentage of the public has undiagnosed cancer. Also investigators would like to know whether those who have cancer have had certain symptoms or think they have had them, or whether they have developed the disease without any apparent symptoms.

The study also should disclose how frequently the patient may be responsible for delay in seeking diagnosis and treatment.

The executive committee of the Virginia division has approved participation in the project and it is estimated that 3,000 to 4,000 volunteers will be needed in the state of Virginia. Specific local units of the Virginia division will be given an opportunity to participate in the cancer prevention study. Our field representatives are now approaching these units to determine if they would like to take part. Based on population, the number of volunteer workers available, and other factors, each unit will be assigned a certain number of families.

Haycox, county engineer, is general contractor for the project.

Mr. James Yeter, lead representative of Virginia division to Princess Anne unit, attended a special executive committee meeting on Friday, August 21st, at which time he invited the local unit to take part in the cancer prevention survey. Mrs. Paul Dolgins, president of the Princess Anne unit, is proud to announce that the executive committee was most enthusiastic about the forthcoming survey and we feel confident that we will be able to take part in the study to the fullest extent.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

On behalf of the Council of Garden Clubs of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County, you print a notice to all merchants they are closing their businesses at the end of the season.

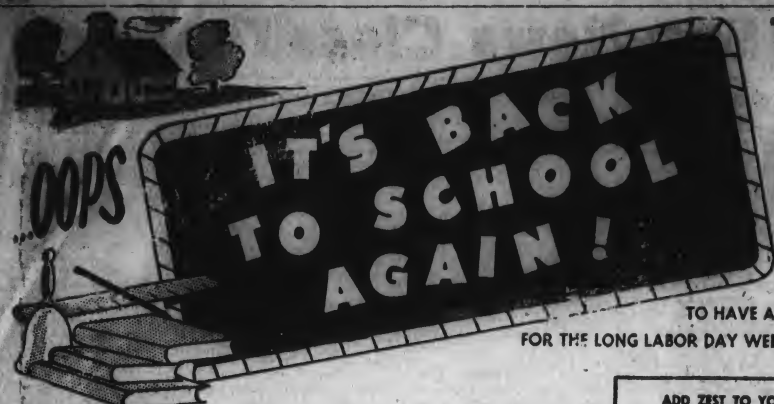

If it is possible for you to do so, make the request to the effect that they leave their windows clear and neat. Possibly they could make a display on "Don't be a Litter-bug" theme.

Thanking you in advance.

Madge B. Dome
Clean Up Chairman

A cleaner community is up to you — and it's as easy as 1-2-3.

1) Don't litter streets and sidewalks.
2) Don't put sidewalk sweepings in the street.
3) Don't throw trash from cars.

Cavalier Features First Name Band

Coming directly from The Roosevelt in New York, Lenny Herman & His Orchestra will open at The Cavalier Beach & Cabana Club, September 8th and will be featured until September 27th when the Beach Club closes for the 1959 season.

According to Sidney Banks, President of the Cavalier properties, this is the first time that a band of such top calibre has been booked for the season's closing engagement.

Coincidentally, Jimmy Palmer & His Orchestra featured at The Beach Club through Labor Day will go directly from here to The Roosevelt Hotel in New York for a lengthy booking.

The Lenny Herman orchestra has a record of engagements in the country's notable supper clubs and dance spots and is recognized in the entertainment field as one of the top society bands today.

During Lenny Herman's engagement ten dances will be scheduled on Saturdays and Sundays only. There will be no tea dance on September 27th.

One of Every 35 Children Receive Obscene Mail

Approximately one out of every 35 school-age children in America will be solicited through the mails this year for the sale of obscene literature and photographs, Postmaster Nash reports.

Mr. Nash, Bayside, Va., today appealed for broader public support of the Post Office Department's campaign to wipe out this menace which profits on the corruption of minor children.

He said that Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has advised that as many as one million children this year will receive such filthy material through the mails at their parents' homes.

Postmaster Nash emphasized that the child himself may be completely innocent of having requested such material. He pointed out that these "merchants of filth," who dump "pornographic sewage" into the hands of thousands of children every day, buy standard mailing lists, gather names from high school yearbooks, and even advertise roadside toys such as model airplanes for sale, in order to garner names of youngsters to whom they can send their smut.

In a recent speech, Postmaster General Summerfield also warned, "These racketeers do not respect any social group, economic status or place of residence. They use every conceivable method to get children's names and addresses to make up their mailing lists."

"Persistent, intensive action on a nationwide scale," he continued, "will be absolutely necessary for a long time to come to cope with the determined plans of the filth racketeers to expand their business."

Postmaster Nash reported that civic groups throughout the nation are rising in support of the campaign. Since the Postmaster General "declared war" on this huge racket, more than 1,000 organizations have notified Mr. Summerfield of their active support and cooperation, Postmaster Nash said.

The public here and in every community in our country can provide immeasurable aid in our four-fold program to wipe out this traffic, which Mr. Summerfield has described as the most vile, insidious racket of our time, Postmaster Nash said.

The objectives of this program are:

1. To draw maximum public attention to the menace of this racket;
2. To urge parents to help the Post Office Department to apprehend the mailers of filth to their children;
3. To help mobilize community support behind adequate law enforcement of local ordinances or state laws when these purveyors are apprehended and brought to court;
4. To rally public opinion behind new and stiffer legislation on obscenity.

"If all of us join hands in support of this program, the war against this vile racket can be won," he concluded.

Labor Day Traffic Dangers Cited by State Police Head

"Don't make your last fling of Summer your last fling—period," said Colonel C. W. Woodson, Jr., Superintendent of State Police and Chairman of the Governor's Highway Safety Committee, today as Virginians prepared to flock to the highways for Labor Day weekend.

Traditionally, he noted, the long holiday weekend marks the end of Summer travel and usually sees the highways more crowded than during any other holiday period, since Labor Day always falls on a holiday to give a three-day vacation.

"Last year," he continued, "the toll was high with the nation seeing a total of 300 traffic deaths, to which Virginia contributed 15. This year, the National Safety Council is predicting 400 immediate deaths with the expectation that many more will occur later from injuries received during the holiday. Virginia's average since 1951 has been 15.4."

Commenting on last year's fatal crashes for the period Colonel Woodson was emphatic in stating that speeding, driving while drinking, and a combination of the two, stood out like "prominent sore thumbs," he commented, "but simply left their proper lanes with no regard for other drivers and with no evidence of drinking on the parts of the drivers."

Asked to give a few pointers which might save lives, Colonel Woodson offered the following:

1. Don't drink while or shortly after drinking. Alcohol, even in small quantities, can make a lethal menace of a driver and as its effect wears off, drowsiness sets in.
2. Pace your driving and allow plenty of time for getting there and back without the temptation to hurry or take chances. Don't indulge in an abnormal amount of exercise or lose sleep and expect to be in proper condition for driving.
3. Drive defensively. Traffic will be heavy and dangerous. A recent traffic survey (Kemper Insurance) indicates that seven out of 10 people killed or injured in traffic are innocent victims of law violators.
4. Watch your walking. A drink-impaired or inattentive driver can kill you quicker than if you had the protection of your car.
5. Keep your children out of traffic and see that they sit quietly and firmly in their seats when you are driving. Driving needs all your attention.
6. Don't hurry. You're risking lives for seconds you might save.
7. Be sure your car is in safe mechanical condition.

Colonel Woodson called attention to the national "Slow Down and Live" campaign which began Memorial Day and closes with Labor Day. This drive, in which Virginia has participated, is aimed at speeding and other "in a hurry" violations. During 1958, Virginia showed an 18.9 per cent reduction in deaths during the period and this reduction was exceeded by only 11 of the 29 other states showing improvements.

RORY CALHOUN

Rory Calhoun Gets Lead in Movie Of Southern 500

DARLINGTON, S. C.—Rory Calhoun, Hollywood's latest mainline idol and star of the television series "The Texan," has been signed by Francis White, HOWCO International, for the lead role in the motion picture production based on the Southern 500-mile stock car race here. Labor Day.

Calhoun will play the role of Match Cooper, a veteran race driver who once won the Southern 500 and comes back for one more try.

White has assembled an all-star cast in support of Calhoun in the wide-screen, color grade A feature picture. John Gentry, under contract to Universal Pictures, will portray Les York, Cooper's protegee while Connie Hines, Hollywood's latest female discovery by Warner Brothers, plays Rene York, beautiful wife of Gentry. Allen Hale, Jr., has the part of Buddy Shaffer, patterned on the late mechanic and race driver, Buddy Shuman.

Ellie Park, here been cast from the theatre group in the Cape Fear and specialty parts from the beauty pageant that precedes the Labor Day racing classic. Van Casey, a Hartsville, S.C., high school senior landed a major role in "Stogie," the comic relief for Calhoun's pit crew.

The company coming from Hollywood will number 165 people. All will remain in Darlington during the 18 day shooting schedule following the auto race.

Many of the scenes will be shot during the running of the race and at the Saturday Southern Festival parade and beauty pageant. The actual race will be recreated, along

Vet Service Officer To Visit Beach

T. A. Moore, service officer for veterans and their survivors, working for the State government of Virginia, will visit veterans, with-out charge on Thursday, September 10, 1959, at the Virginia Beach Convention Center, between the hours of 11 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Moore's office in Norfolk is located at 305 McKeyitt Building, 209 City Hall Avenue, telephone MADison 2-6671.

It cost American taxpayers three million dollars to clean up litter from our national forests last year. Don't you be a litterbug. Help keep our forests and all of America clean and beautiful.

with crashes and pit stops, during the 18 day shooting schedule. Race driver Neil Castles, Charlotte, N.C., will do the stunt driving.

Calhoun, one of Hollywood's highest paid stars, requested the part after reading the script and viewing movies of past Southern 500s. "This is a part I can feel," the star was quoted. "I've always been a racing fan, did a lot of hot rodding and always felt I had special mechanical talents. I can't wait to see and be a part of the Southern 500."

The story was written by Richard Landau, one of Hollywood's leading writers, after visiting the Rebel 500-mile race in Darlington last May. Paul Henneke, with a long list of successful films, is the director and Rex White, assistant director. Francis White is producing the film expected to be released in February. Two hundred prints will be scheduled to domestic theatres with the dialogue changed into six languages for foreign distribution. HOWCO International, White's firm, is the distributor of the Italian Budget Bardot films.

Calhoun and the supporting actors will arrive in Darlington four days before the Labor Day race.

Sen. Moreland of West Virginia at Martha Washington Hotel

State Senator Bill Moreland, of Morgantown, accompanied by the politically minded Mrs. Morgan and daughter, Pam, have ended their vacation at the Martha Washington Hotel, starting back home Saturday. All three showed effects of their stay by the improvement of their Australian crows, broke, skin diving and a beautiful, yet somewhat painful, coat of tan. The Senator stated he was again in full fighting trim and ready for any political assignment. The Democrats had to offer. He fully believes the next election will go Democratic, claiming the party has plenty of excellent material for the job. Of the Republicans he was inclined to believe that Nixon would get the nod, but much will depend upon the success of Eisenhower's visit to Europe and what effect Russia's Premier Nikita Khrushchev trip will have.

Senator Moreland holds office until 1963 during which time he will devote much effort to building up his vote getting. When asked if he would run for Congress he said, not while his friend, Harvey Biggers held office. We are fast friends and I could well wait his support if the occasion arose. Besides swimming and surf bathing he gave some time to tennis; his partner being Paul Rhudy of Charleston. Paul, a sturdy player, kept Bill on the run most of the time, to the tune of dropping several pounds he could afford to lose. Mrs. Moreland was rather anxious to get back home to her flower beds and coming shows, while daughter, Pam, stated she had plenty to keep her employed until school opened.

The Morelands proved most popular guests here. They were highly impressed with the many French Canadians who made vacation a real holiday. They never talked business or seemed to worry about it. All seemed quite perfectly contented their new Conservative Prime Minister Hon. John Diefenbaker was able to handle The Dominion's political affairs in spite of the fact he had run into several snags since taking over from The Liberals.

New Restaurant Open for Business On Vaughn Drive

Hong Shu Har Kew, Tin Soon Yuck.
Chinese tongue-twister? Ah, so! Also Chinese American restaurant delicacies, as served to a large private party held to mark the formal opening of the China Post Restaurant.

The new eating establishment is now open to the public from 11 a.m. to 1 a.m. and Sunday. Its location is 1117 Vaughn Dr., next to the Bel-Aire Motel on Military Highway, a short distance from Virginia Beach Boulevard.

More than 100 citizens were invited to a special party Monday to dine on some of the more exotic dishes that will be available.

They were guests of Jack Lee, Philip C. Bunk, Foo Y. Lee and King Lee, who is from Norfolk, is president of the organization. The others have had extensive experience in New York City, they said.

King — he uses only his first name — explained that Hong Shu Har Kew was really jumbo shrimp with Chinese vegetables and water chestnuts. Tin Soon Yuck is sweet and pungent pork. Several other meat combinations also were served the guests along with the familiar-to-most Bird's Nest Soup.

The husky, affable King said the China Post also will offer "take out" service.

New Egg Market Report Begins September 1

Followers of local egg markets will be looking at a new and less confusing set of egg prices after September 1, the Virginia State Department of Agriculture announced today.

Instead of separate prices, each quoted on a different basis from different markets, the Department's market news daily report will be translated into one Virginia Egg market report.

The new report will give a range for eggs by grades based on farm refrigeration and on deliveries of five cases or more. Producers can easily figure what they should get based on the pricing system they operate under.

In addition to the report covering prices paid producers which will be issued daily, the Market News Service will include twice weekly a report on sales to retailers. In formation in this section will include prices received for sale of cartoned stock to retail stores.

According to C. A. Middleton, Supervisor of the Department's Market News Section, the new program is designed in line with the recent changes in the pattern of egg production in Virginia. The new service will follow the same pattern of the Virginia Live Poultry Report.

ALL-ELECTRIC LAUNDRY

NOTE ADVISORY: It's joy enough that your All-Electric Laundry turns wash-day into wash-hour. But what really makes up your schedule is that wash-hour can be any hour . . . day or night . . . rain or shine.

NOTE: Doesn't the thought of time depend on the kind of weather?

NOTE ADVISORY: That's true. With light things, you can wash in under an hour. Bedspreads and beach towels need longer in the Electric Dryer. But whether wash-hour turns out to be 10 minutes or 60 minutes . . . you only have to be glad for a few of those minutes. Just long enough to load and run the Automatic Electric Washer, and later to stretch the damp yards to your Electric Dryer. You can even save that last with a combination Washer-Dryer.

NOTE: Aren't you enjoying the weather?

NOTE ADVISORY: As a matter of fact, there's more to the convenience of your Electric Dryer to fully stretch you out than any of them away without ironing. So plan yourself an All-Electric Laundry. A silent, safe, automatic Electric Washer Heater for plenty of piping hot gallons at any hour, an Automatic Electric Washer. And an all-weather Electric Clothes Dryer. You need all three to set you free!

NOTES FROM YOUR COUNTY AGENT

By E. B. "DICK" COCKBELL, JR.

WBOV, 6:20 THURSDAYS, W.T.A.B.: 12:15 SATURDAY, W.T.A.B.

I have been requested to repeat my favorite story of all that has been printed in my column over the past twelve month period and here it is.

MARITAL TROUBLES

SOYBEAN INSECTS

STILL BOTHERSOME

Soybean insects are still around Princess Anne County in rather heavy numbers. Considerable damage has been done in some fields and very little damage done in others. Farmers have been spraying their soybean fields both with ground equipment and with plane service.

I have been exceedingly busy the last two weeks inspecting soybean fields assisting farmers with determining the need for applying control measures. Every field is an individual problem. No one can say without proper inspection that it is always wise to spray when worms are present. The type of worm makes all the difference whether you spray or not. The infestation makes a great deal of difference. Therefore, every field, I believe, should be inspected periodically to determine the best and the economy of applying control measures.

I guess I have been in seventy-five to one hundred soybean fields during the last two weeks and I have found fields that do not need to be sprayed, and I have also found fields that needed to be sprayed very badly. Now, if you have soybeans, and you cannot determine in your mind whether you should apply control measures or not, I would be very happy to come to your farm and to help you with this decision. Sometimes another person coming in to look over your soybeans with you can help you make up an undecided mind. So, if you have soybeans and you have insects and cannot determine which you want to do, just give me a call and I will be very happy to assist you in any way that I can.

FARMERS PREPARING FOR FEEDER CALF SALE

Almost concurrently with inspecting soybean fields, I have been working with the County Beef Cattle Producers, assisting them with getting their cattle ready for the fall Feeder Calf Sale which will be held in Petersburg on October 7. Many farmers are interested in selling their '59 calf crop through this market and I believe that it is a sound market. At least in past years it has paid off and from indications we believe that the Feeder Calf Market will be an excellent market to use in disposing of the '59 calves. If you would like to talk over the possibilities of selling your calves through this sale, please get in touch with me at once and I will be very happy to come out to your farm and look over your cattle and talk with you about the Feeder Calf Sale.

DROUGHT INCREASES IMPORTANCE OF PASTURE

Dry weather in June has made winter pastures more important than usual in Princess Anne County.

Farmers who care short of hay and silage for this winter's feeding will find it wise to seed some small grain for late fall and early spring grazing.

Regardless of the season, winter grazing is, or can be, an important part of the forage system on most Princess Anne Dairy and livestock farms.

Seed small grain up to mid-September. If seeded by mid-September there is still enough growing season left to provide some grazing before winter. A mixture of rye and barley, or rye alone, will usually provide more grazing than other small grains. Seed rye alone at the rate of 2 to 4 bushels per acre, and the barley-rye or other small grain mixture at the rate of 3 to 4 bushels per acre. Fertilize with 60 to 80 pounds of 10-10-10, or the equivalent.

POSSIBLE REASONS ITTED

FOR LAMB PRODUCTION

The dairyman whose herd is in production behind that of his neighbor can be hurt in both his pride and his pocketbook.

The question is to why one herd produces more than another. There are many reasons. One is the quality of the stock. Another is the management. The relative importance of each is not easy to determine. However, research to date shows that breeding may account for only 10 to 20 percent of the difference. This leaves feeding and management responsible for the remaining 80 to 90 percent.

If your neighbor's herd is consistently out-producing your herd, ask a few pointed questions.

What kind of sires are being used? Perhaps artificial breeding, making possible the use of top bulls, is the answer. Selection and culling, keeping only replacement heifers from high producing cows, is important. Get rid of the families of low producers.

What are the feeding practices? Plenty of green, leafy legume hay, and plenty of silage are needed to give cows the thousands of calories they need every day. Protein also is furnished by early cut hay and silage, and by some concentrates.

Do you do a good job of milking the herd? A good milking machine, kept in first class condition, and used properly, can help increase production.

Cows should have about two months' vacation, or dry period, each year. And the herd should be kept healthy—free of mastitis and other diseases.

LAND FEEDING BUSINESS INCREASES IN VIRGINIA

The land feeding business is catching the fancy of more and more Virginia farmers.

As the husbandman at VPI says that where surplus pasture, roughage, and grain are available, many farmers are finding that feeder lambs can return more dollars for the feed they eat than the sale of meat. Some of the advantages can be used to advantage. For example, feed grain or corn stalks, thus converting these feeds into a marketable product.

There are several types of feeder lambs produced in Virginia. The VPI specialists say. Some farmers buy lambs in July or August and raise them until ready for market. Others buy in late August, September, or early October, and use pasture and grain. Others buy in October or early November and finish on harvested grain in the Valley and Southwest Virginia, or raise winter cover crops and small grain in other sections. Some farmers use variations or combinations of these systems, such as selling the quick finishing lambs off pasture and finishing the lighter lambs or harvested grain.

Most markets where lambs are graded start sorting out feeder lambs in July. These are light weight, underfed lambs and are not as desirable as the heavier feeder lambs. These are not separated from those for slaughter the regular good grade or utility lambs are often bought for feeders. Cull grade lambs are too small and too low in quality to make good feeders.

Some western feeder lambs are fed in Virginia. As compared to native feeders, the western lambs can be bought in larger groups and usually have fewer parasites and less diseases, may finish more uniformly, but usually cost more than native lambs.

Since lambs are fed for a short time and make relatively small gains, the farmer must anticipate higher price per pound of fat lambs at selling time than the price per pound paid for feeder lambs. For a safe margin, most farmers expect to sell the lambs for around five cents a pound more than they paid for them.

Many of the lambs in the feeder grades would have reached higher slaughter grades if proper parasite control measures had been followed in the flocks from which they came. This means that parasites must be reduced before profitable gains can be expected.

Tips on feeding, management, marketing, use of antibiotics, etc., are available from county agricultural agents, or from the VPI Animal Husbandry Department, Blacksburg.

The specialists say that antibiotics used in lamb feeding are aureomycin and terramycin. Some tests have shown increases in rate of gain and feed efficiency. Most benefit has been noted with lower grade, utility lambs. A decrease in the incidence of some diseases has also been noted where antibiotic supplements have been used.

Increases in gain, but lower carcass grades, have generally been reported when hormones have been used with feeder lambs. Many lambs on which stilbestrol was used have shown serious effects, with deaths in extreme cases.

WINTER FEED BILL ITEM OF CONCERN

The winter feed bill can cause many a Beef cow herd man to furrow his brow and gnaw his pencil. It is the most expensive single item the cow herd man in Princess Anne has to cope with. The main aim in wintering beef cows, is to get them through from the time grazing ends in the fall until it is available again in the spring at the cheapest cost in keeping with good management practices. The end product—a marketable calf that will yield the most dollars after the feed bill is paid, should be kept constantly in mind.

There are several factors to consider. What forages will be available on the farm during the regular course of operation? What feed can be produced the most economically from the standpoint of land and machinery required? What feeds can be fed the most economically from the standpoint of labor?

The amount of feed needed will depend on the weight of the cows. Cows will eat an average of 20 pounds of hay or its equivalent, per 1,000 pounds of weight per day during the winter. Usually the good cattleman will start feeding lightly in the fall and gradually increase the feed toward calving time. After the calves are on the ground, the cows will be fed heavier toward spring.

At the Middleburg Forage Research Station it has been found that cows full-fed on alfalfa hay and corn silage produce calves no better than those cows wintered on three-fourths of the identical ration. A cow getting 75 per cent of her maximum intake has done just as well from the standpoint of calf production as the cow getting all she will eat of this high-grade feed.

Although alfalfa hay and corn silage are the best feed for cows, the beef cow herd must be integrated into the feed-production program of the farm. If the farm produces, in the normal course of operation, some poor-grade roughage, then this roughage should be used for the beef cows. The beef cow herd, for instance, can be wintered satisfactorily on a ration of two-thirds corn fodder and cereal straw, and one-third alfalfa hay. They can be wintered very successfully on mixed hay, and this is probably most commonly fed in Virginia. Straight legume hay is good for the cows, but combining it with low-grade roughage available will cut the wintering bill. Corn silage will produce more feed per acre than anything else. However, if there are enough low-grade roughages on the farm to winter a beef cow herd, it is not usually economical to produce corn silage and let the roughage go to waste. It would be preferable to use the corn for some other purpose if there is other roughage that will not be put to better use. A beef cow can turn any type of roughage into profit.

CONSTIPATED? Medical reports show how folks over 35 can establish regularity

After 35, irregularity often becomes a problem. What you need is something that aids nature and helps establish regularity. Such an aid to regularity is the daily use of SERUTAN. Here's medical evidence: A group of men and women took SERUTAN daily under medical supervision. In one case after case SERUTAN, taken daily, helped establish regularity. So, for relief from constipation after 35, try SERUTAN, powder or granules.

Mulwee (right) of 316 34th Street, Virginia Beach—after being sworn in as a Special Deputy Sheriff—"rides shotgun" on a stagecoach delivering a million-dollar medal collection to the conference hotel. The medals, in the strongbox behind Mulwee were won in competitive wine judgments by products of the Cresta Blanca Wine Co. of which Mulwee is district manager. The Virginia Beach man received his Special Deputy's commission from Sheriff John Flaska of Bernalillo County, N. Mex.

Children's Home Society Good Service for Baby Adoption

The Children's Home Society specializes in the very best adoption procedure. This agency with offices at 322 South Third Street, Richmond, 323 Eighth Street, S.W., Roanoke and 3150 Wilson Boulevard, Arlington, receives babies from Virginia residents and finds the right adoptive parents for these infants in the State of Virginia.

A mother who knows she cannot give her child its birthright brings the baby to the office of the Society after having applied for its care. She brings the baby as soon as she is discharged from the hospital. Some are brought by indifferent mothers, but many are giving their babies up to the agency because they feel the life they can offer is best for their children.

It is a happy fact that every year the Society is able to accept more babies for care and place more babies for adoption because of the generosity of the people of Virginia. The income of the Society comes from 40 Community Chests and United Funds and contributions from over 30,000 individuals. Their babies never have institutional care. A social service worker takes the baby from its mother to a boarding home. Here a mother and father with children of their own are ready for the new born baby.

Chief Johnson Offers Reminder To Save Lives of Our Children

Nearly 170,000 children — dead, maimed or injured!

That's the number of child victims claimed by traffic accidents in the United States in one year!

That statement was made today by Reeves E. Johnson, Chief of Police, who today called for all-out war on traffic accidents. Disclosing that 4,061 pedestrians below the age of 15 were killed or injured in Virginia last year, Chief Johnson said, "Complete mobilization of all our safety forces is the only thing that will assure our children's safety on the streets. This means action by parents, teachers, motorists, older children and the youngsters themselves."

According to Chief Johnson, a large percentage of child pedestrian traffic deaths and injuries are avoidable. He believes the key to the situation lies in traffic safety education of the young and constant vigilance on the part of all adults.

"Naturally," he said, "a child's best safeguard in traffic is his own recognition of danger and his thorough knowledge of safety rules. But children are not naturally cautious; they must be taught caution both at home and at school."

Chief Johnson then outlined these simple rules for parents to follow in educating their children in traffic safety:

1. Teach your children habits of safe walking.
2. See that they always play in safe places away from the street.
3. Set them an example of safe behavior by your own conduct in traffic.

He also reminded teachers and school officials:

1. Make traffic safety a regular part of your instruction.
2. Cooperate with parents and police authorities.

"And, of course," Chief Johnson said, "the responsibility of the child for his own safety is absolute. No matter how well a child has been trained, there are times when he forgets. At such times, only quick thinking by the driver can avert disaster. Constant alertness is a must!"

Chief Johnson urged everyone to help cut down the alarming toll of traffic deaths and injuries among our young people by supporting the Child Safety Program which the Virginia Beach Police Department and the Governor's Highway Safety Committee are conducting during September.

Better Postal Service Provided Under Metro Plan

Approximately one hundred million Americans in 43 major metropolitan areas over the nation are getting better mail service under the "Metro Plan" for next-day delivery, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield said today.

The Metropolitan Plan provides that a letter mailed anywhere within a metropolitan area before 5 p.m. will be delivered the next business day.

Repeated tests, by the Post Office Department and by newspaper publishers, have shown the plan to be practically 100 per cent effective, barring occasional uncontrollable factors, such as human errors, truck breakdowns, etc.

The Metro operation depends on closely integrated transportation schedules for mail within each metropolitan area, and on such time-saving operations as processing a great deal of mail in suburban post offices, rather than in crowded downtown post offices.

As of the close of the first anniversary of the Metro Plan on Aug. 21, there were 99,325,297 persons receiving the improved mail service. The 43 Metropolitan areas affected cover an area of 791,814 square miles, and their combined daily average mail volume is 84,987,061 pieces.

The Metro Plan was first placed in operation in the New York City area on Aug. 21, 1953, with the Washington, D.C. area following on Sept. 12, 1955. Other big metropolitan areas which are provided with the improved service during the first year of operation include San Francisco, Los Angeles, Philadelphia and Chicago.

The Post Office Department plans to extend the Metro Plan to virtually every major metropolitan area in the country, Mr. Summerfield noted. By the second anniversary of the program, Aug. 21, 1960, it's expected that the plan will be in operation in 80 areas, with more than 150,000,000 Americans receiving the improved service.

The Metro Plan is one phase of a complete overall program of direct mail service improvements in many areas of postal operations, Mr. Summerfield noted. In other areas, rural delivery service has been extended — under a new program permitting delivery in areas where two families per mile reside — to more than 400,000 additional families.

Also in August 1958, the Post Office Department directed postmasters to extend their hours of postal office service, as well as provide later and more frequent pickups of mail from letter boxes. As a result, these service improvements were provided in thousands of communities during the last year, Mr. Summerfield noted.

"The Metro Plan, providing faster delivery in our big vital metropolitan centers of commerce, industry and social life has been one of the most significant advances in the postal service in modern times," the Postmaster General commented.

Young Doctor Will Study in West Africa

A Norfolk man who is the nephew of a Virginia Beach resident left Tuesday for Nigeria, West Africa, to study the effect of a modern hospital on a heretofore wild area of Africa.

The man is Dr. James H. Vaughan, Jr., who is to spend the next 15 months in West Africa on a Ford Foundation Grant to study the Marghi tribe of Nigeria. Dr. Vaughan is the nephew of Mrs. B. F. Kay of 5710 Meer Street, Virginia Beach.

In the project Vaughan will be applying theoretical material developed in his Ph.D. thesis which he recently completed at Northwestern.

Vaughan is a graduate of the University of the South and received his M.A. degree from the University of North Carolina. He is a member of Sigma Xi, national honorary scientific society.

Mrs. Vaughan, the former Ann Maxwell Richard, and their two children, ages 8 and 3, will join Vaughan later.

Beach 'Sold' to Canadians

Mrs. Julia Neims, right, of the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce, is shown at the Virginia booth at the recent Canadian National Exposition in Toronto. The booth was sponsored by the Virginia Travel Council. Mrs. William T. Lillyman of Norfolk is at left and a visitor to the booth in the center is Miss Penny Rubin from the Indian High Commission.

Virginia Beach Strongly Supported At Canadian National Exposition

Taking a line from The Virginia Travel Council, news letter for The Virginia Travel Council, "Virginia Beach with half a tone of sandy kisses is causing a riot around the Virginia Booth at the Canadian National Exposition."

Mrs. Julia Neims, executive secretary for The Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce is the resort's representative at the largest annual travel show in the world which started August 30 and runs through September 12.

Mrs. Neims went to Canada armed with promotional pamphlets—aside from 10 thousand color folders on Virginia Beach, she was well supplied with 5 thousand strip maps, 3,000 and envelopes, a half ton of candy kisses, the Virginia Beach movie and special costumes. Through arrangements made by Laura Lambie Advertising handling the resort's promotion and publicity, Mrs. Neims will be a special guest for "Virginia Beach Days" in the Toronto Globe & Mail's Travel Bureau. The newspaper will publicize her guest appearance and run publicity shots. Also set-up were radio and TV stations on which Mrs. Neims will be interviewed regarding Virginia Beach.

The Canadian National Exposition is the largest travel exposition held in Canada with an approximate attendance of 3 million. Through The Virginia Travel Council's efforts, Virginia is one of the three states in the country invited to participate in the three week's show.

Although Downing said he hoped the bill might be introduced at the present session of Congress, he said it was doubtful anything could be done until the January session.

The Public Works Department of the Fifth Naval District conducted an appraisal of the school last Thursday.

Findings will be reported to the Pentagon and subsequently turned over to Downing.

"A special liaison officer searched for any available funds which might be used for the property but could find none," Downing said. "The quickest remedial action lies in separate legislation. As soon as I get the figure I will insert it in a special bill."

Seahawks Face Deep Creek in Grid Opener Friday Night

The 1959 version of the Virginia Beach Seahawks football team will be unveiled to the public Friday night when the charges of Coach George Tepo go against the Deep Creek Hornets at Deep Creek starting at 8 o'clock.

Grid observers have expressed mixed emotions after watching the Seahawks in practice sessions. Some believe the local eleven will give a good account of itself this fall. Others feel that lack of experience will hamper the Seahawks.

In Deep Creek the Seahawks are meeting a formidable opening game and it should not take long to tell just what kind of a club the local school will have this year.

If certain key players should come through and give their best effort at times Coach Tepo may come up with a sleeper in the District race.

The Seahawks will be out-captained by bulky Freddy Derring and versatile Pat Standing. If these youngsters display the leadership expected of them the rest of the championship will fall into a smooth functioning machine.

Young Pat Ricks has shown a keen desire in the backfield and is pushing veteran Hugh Kitchin, Jr. However, Kitchin could be a tremendous asset should he elect to give his best at all times. Tommy Jacobs will probably be the quarterback.

Heavy Enrollment Anticipated by Officials; New Plants Are Planned

Approximately 18,500 pupils are expected to enroll today and Friday in the Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach public schools, according to estimates of officials of the public school system here.

More than 17,000 pupils are expected to enroll in the schools throughout Princess Anne County while nearly 1,500 are expected in the two Virginia Beach schools.

Enrollment figures for the W. T. Cooke elementary school in Virginia Beach is estimated at approximately 775 pupils while approximately 640 students are expected to enroll at the Virginia Beach High School.

In keeping with the accelerated program of education as set down by the State the eighth grade of the Linkhorn Park elementary school on Laskin Road has been shifted to the Virginia Beach High School. Officials feel that the pupils in this grade will have greater facilities and greater advantages at the high school plant.

Due to the annexation by the City of Norfolk of some 13 square miles of Princess Anne County the total school population should show a slight decrease this year but it is estimated that by next year the school population will exceed the pre-annexation figure in the county.

With the rapid growth of the county School Superintendent Frank W. Cox informed the School Board several weeks ago that it would be necessary to spend $7,276,950 for school construction during the next three years just to keep abreast of the growth in school population.

Cox pointed out to the Board that the population increase in Princess Anne County is expected to be exceeded only by Fairfax County in the near future. About 2,500 new pupils pour into the Princess Anne system each year.

Portsmouth—For the first time in more than seven years the Naval Shipyard is accepting applications for painter, according to a Civil Service examination which has just been announced.

Purpose of the examination, Harry L. Gray, executive secretary of the Board of Civil Service Examiners at the shipyard, said is to establish an eligible register from which future calls for employment will be made.

Separate registers will be established for brush painter and spray painter. Gray said, although applicants need file only one application to get on both registers. Applicants should indicate in their applications the percentage of time spent on brush painting or spray painting in each place of employment. A total of four years of painting experience is needed to qualify.

Applications will be received for a thirty-day period only, ending on Oct. 7. Applications filed after that date will be received by mail and must bear a postmark not later than midnight, Oct. 7. Gray said.

Forms for filing application form 37, may be obtained at the shipyard, or persons may apply at any post office for applications or for information as to where the forms may be secured.

Last June the Princess Anne County School Board said it would seek federal aid in relocating the school because of noise and danger from jet plants at the nearby Oceana Naval Air Station.

The School Board and Supt. Frank W. Cox asked for a "speedy determination" of the value of the school in hope that something might be done in the present session of Congress.

Three children of this immediate area traveled with their Large Hunter Ponies to the Enfield, North Carolina Horse Show this past Labor Day weekend, where they were most successful in Equitation. Hunters over Fences and Under Saddle classes.

"Snow Dancer," a liver chestnut pony, owned by Miss Kathleen Wacker, was most successful with her large bay pony hunter. "The Hunter and Touch and Out Classes, while Bobby Brown of Oceana, as well as placing with his pony "Little League" in Hunter classes won a blue ribbon in Hunter Seat Equitation.

All three of these children, on taking their ponies to the coming horse show being held this weekend at Greenbrier Farms on Military Highway.

Although Downing said he hoped the bill might be introduced at the present session of Congress, he said it was doubtful anything could be done until the January session.

The Public Works Department of the Fifth Naval District conducted an appraisal of the school last Thursday.

Findings will be reported to the Pentagon and subsequently turned over to Downing.

Miss Helen E. Degen of Virginia Beach was one of 30 young women who graduated from DePaul Hospital School of Nursing on September 4th. Miss Degen is now on the staff of the emergency department of DePaul Hospital.

Miss Sue B. Whitestone formerly of Charlottesville is now residing at 116 82nd Street.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thiemeyer of Washington have returned after spending several days with their son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. John Thiemeyer Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Darden III of Blacksburg spent the Labor Day weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Darden Jr. on 54th Street.

TEST RADIATION AT A-PLANT SITE—Extensive tests are underway at Port, S. C., to determine existing radiation preparatory to construction of the Southeast's first nuclear-fired power plant by Carolina Virginia Nuclear Power Associates. At top left Hubert King, environmental physicist, and E. E. Pitt, head of CVNPA's technical advisory committee, study a delicate temperature device nicknamed the "bird cage." Center shows the 200-foot weather tower equipped with meteorological instruments; top right shows King with instruments which record wind and temperature data; at bottom left King uses a Geiger counter to detect radioactivity in water samples; at lower right he inserts a sample into a scintillation counter nicknamed "the pig" to determine the amount of radioactivity. Tests cover natural elements found in a 12-mile radius.

Scientists, Engineers Taking Nature Apart to Determine Radiation

PARR, S.C.—Scientists and engineers are taking nature apart here to determine existing radiation preparatory to construction of the Southeast's first nuclear-fired power plant.

They're "feeding the pig," "guzzling air" and "plugging the bird cage"—phrases for their tests of precipitation, temperature, wind currents, soil, milk, surface and ground water and even rabbits and catfish within a 12-mile radius.

The mass of resulting data will be used as a guide in construction and operation of the prototype atomic plant being developed by Carolina Virginia Nuclear Power Associates, a corporation formed by Carolina Power & Light Company, Duke Power, South Carolina Electric & Gas and Virginia Electric and Power Company.

Center of the research effort is a permanent laboratory opened here recently by CVNPA and now equipped with instruments to measure and evaluate conditions of natural elements within the area. Alongside the laboratory is a 200-foot weather tower similarly equipped to test atmospheric conditions high above the site.

Sounds of construction are nothing new to Parr. Actually, this has been the scene of electric power production since 1914. Just to the north of the atomic site is a steam-electric generating plant. To the west, with its dam spanning the Broad River, is a hydroelectric plant. On this site will rise next year a dome-shaped vapor condenser that has become a symbol of the atomic-electric industry.

The new facility will make Parr the first site in the nation where electricity can be produced by water power, by fossil fuels and by atomic power.

The weather tower, a 200-foot finger of steel, dominates the scene in this remote locale. It is equipped with the most modern instruments for meteorological research. "Bird cages," round metal structures baffled to keep out errant sunbeams, measure "pure temperatures" at three different levels and relay information to the laboratory. Weather vanes indicate wind velocity and direction.

Ground temperatures are matched with temperatures at the three levels, and this information, along with wind data, will be used to evaluate the suitability of the site.

The "pig" testing program is an ambitious one. Technicians collect, test and catalog samples of natural elements throughout the 12-mile radius, visiting the same sites each month. A working agreement has been reached with the State Health Department, whereby it will supply milk samples (already being collected for its program) to CVNPA in exchange for data collected at the atomic plant site.

Water samples are taken at the site from upstream and downstream reaches of the Broad. Samples of silt, surface water, bottom materials and acorn are checked for radioactivity. Samples also come from wells, creeks and sloughs elsewhere in the 12-mile radius.

The "lowly catfish has taken on new importance in the test program. Being a bottom feeder, he is more likely than other species to carry traces of radioactive materials found at the river bottom as well as radiation in the water. So he has been tapped as a test subject.

Rabbits are also included. Hubert King, environmental physicist in charge of the laboratory, says "rabbits are evidently aware of what we're doing, because they won't take any bait we've offered so far. Rabbit boxes have been set, but with no luck."

"The matter of rabbits is being pursued, literally," he added.

Milk, fish and rabbit samples are prepared and shipped to Nuclear Science & Engineering Corporation, a professional test group located in Pittsburgh. Later, when the local lab is fully equipped, these samples will be tested here.

"Feeding the pig" is an important part of this process. The "pig" is a heavily-shielded scintillation detector which measures the amount of radioactivity in any given sample. A sample for testing is placed in the core of the "pig" and instruments record its radioactivity on graphs and meters.

In the field, conventional Geiger counters are used to spot check radioactivity in samples.

Samples of air are "guzzled" by a unique portable device and preserved for radiation tests in the laboratory.

King explains that everything around us has a certain amount of radioactivity, caused by radioactive materials in the soil and by cosmic rays and radioactive gases in the atmosphere.

The usual amount of radioactivity—about 200 counts per minute—exists at the Parr site. "It is in this atmosphere of slight radiation that we all live," King says, adding that a much higher concentration of radioactivity could exist with little or no effect upon humans.

The CVNPA test program will be continued after the atomic plant goes into operation in 1962, to detect any change in background radiation. Actually, the Parr site has been under study for more than a year. A detailed report was recently completed for CVNPA by Lockheed Aircraft Corporation covering weather data here over a 30-year period. Conclusions by Lockheed scientists indicate that "... from the data analyzed thus far, it has been determined that the proposed reactor site at Parr is indeed a favorable location from a meteorological standpoint, because of the rare occurrence of adverse weather phenomena and the moderate topographic features that surround the facility." Parr was chosen over 20 other sites because of these and other favorable conditions. Remoteness well describes Parr; there are only 58 permanent residents within a half-mile radius.

The proposed plant will use slightly enriched Uranium-235 as a fuel and heavy water as a coolant and moderator. The nuclear fuel will be located deep within a steel and concrete structure partially buried below ground level. There uranium will be bombarded with neutrons to start the fission process. Heat produced will be used to generate steam and turn turbines in the existing generating plant nearby.

Rods of neutron-absorbing materials will control the fission rate. These and other facilities will be operated remotely from outside the vapor container building.

As outlined by CVNPA charter at its birth in 1956, the Parr project is to "... demonstrate the practical and economical use of nuclear energy for the generation of electric energy, together with such industrial and scientific products and by-products and applications as may seem desirable, all for the purpose of the development of scientific knowledge for the public good and national defense."

Construction of the plant itself will begin early next year. Completion date is mid-1962. CVNPA engineers envision much larger atomic power plants in the service areas of the four member companies within the foreseeable future when such plants are economically competitive. The Parr plant will

Great Books Group To Meet Sept. 17

The Great Books Group at Virginia Beach will meet at 8 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 17, 1959, at the Country Day School for Girls, 3003 Atlantic Avenue. The purpose of this meeting is to organize the second-year reading program, and to register those men and women who are interested in this stimulating way of attaining a liberal adult education. Discussions are held every other Thursday at 8 p.m. at the above address.

The Great Books Foundation was incorporated in 1947 as a non-profit organization for the purpose of promoting adult education through the reading and group discussion of the great writings of all times. Today there are over 1500 Great Books groups meeting bi-weekly throughout the country in every state of the Union. There are no teachers as such in the group, for the great authors are the teachers—Plato, Shakespeare, Milton, Jefferson, Thoreau, Tolstoy. Discussion is stimulated by the leader injecting provocative questions.

A Great Books discussion group is a gathering of equals. There are no educational requirements for joining a group. In the warmth of the discussion, the tools of awareness are made more acute by the exchange of ideas and insights. The program is free to the public. Participants may purchase inexpensive paper-bound editions of the readings directly from the Foundation or borrow the readings from the library or friends.

"Ecclesiastes" will be the reading discussed at the meeting on Thursday, Sept. 24 at 8 p.m. Other works this year will include: Homer: The Odyssey, Sophocles: Oedipus Rex, Plato: Meno, Aristotle: Ethics, Shakespeare: Hamlet, Rousseau: On the Origin of Inequality, St. Augustine: Confessions.

Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Landon Hilliard Jr., at Garden 8-7711 or Mrs. William J. Grant, Garden 8-9335.

EDITORIAL SPEAKING

Safety Need As Schools Reopen

Today the public schools of Princess Anne County and the City of Virginia Beach open for the new fall term with more than 18,000 pupils expected to enroll.

It would be well for motorists to make a mental note that our schools are now open for highway and traffic safety is needed more now than at any time of the year.

Many motorists feel that the speed limits imposed in and around schools is too severe. They feel that the motorist should be allowed to go a little faster, particularly on the open highway. It might be well to remember the message released today by Virginia Beach Police Chief Johnson pointing out that last year 170,000 children were killed by automobiles.

We believe the present speed limits are just and we believe that the motorist should take stock of himself at this time to remember that school buses are once again on the roads and that small children, completely oblivious of the world around them, are entering and leaving these buses. They are our children and must be protected.

Not only is it school time for the children but it also should be school time for the motorist and extra precaution should be taken, particularly when approaching a school area or a school bus on its route.

WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING

What Is An American, Anyway?

He yells for the government to balance the budget and then takes the last dime he has to make the down payment on his car.

He whips the enemy nations and then gives 'em the shirt off his back.

He yells for speed laws that will stop fast driving, and then won't buy a car if it won't make 100 miles an hour.

An American gets scared to death if we vote a billion dollars for education — but he's cool as a cucumber when he finds out we're spending three billion dollars a year for smoking tobacco.

He gripes about the high prices of the things he has to buy but gripes still more about the low prices of things he has to sell.

He knows the line-up of every baseball team in the American and National Leagues — and doesn't know half the words in "The Star Spangled Banner."

An American will get mad at his wife for not running their home with the efficiency of a hotel, and then he'll get mad at the hotel for not operating like a home.

He'll spend half a day looking for vitamin pills to make him live longer—then drive 90 miles an hour on slick pavement to make up for the time he lost.

An American is a man who will fall out with his wife over her cooking and then go on a fishing trip and swallow half-fried potatoes, burnt fish, and gritty creek water coffee made in a rusty gallon bucket —and think it is good.

An American will work hard on a farm so he can move into town where he can make more money so he can move back to the farm.

When an American is in his office he talks about baseball, football or fishing—when he is out at the games or on the creek bank, he talks about business.

He is the only fellow in the world who will pay 50 cents to park his car while he eats a 25-cent sandwich.

An American likes to cuss his government but gets fighting mad if a foreigner does it.

We're the country that has more food to eat than any other country in the world and more diets to keep us from eating it.

We're the most ambitious people on earth, and we run from morning until night to keep our earning power up with our yearning power.

We're supposed to be the most civilized, Christian nation on earth, but still can't deliver payrolls without an armored car.

In America we have more experts on marriage than any other country in the world — and more divorces.

But we're still pretty nice folks. Calling a person "a real American" is the best compliment we can pay him. Most of the world is itching for what we have — but they'll never have it until they start scratching for it the way we did.

Red Cross Blood Program Provides Out-of-Town Aid

The American Red Cross Blood Program provides for the shipment of blood to hospitals on a reciprocity basis. This blood is used by Virginia and North Carolina local residents who are hospitalized outside of their home city or town Red Cross chapter jurisdiction.

In a single year, for example, this out-of-town blood program served citizens of 20 Virginia and 19 North Carolina cities and counties. A total of 5,804 pints of blood were thus used in Virginia, 3,771 and in North Carolina, 1,089 pints of donated American Red Cross blood.

LT. CORNELIUS D. SCULLY RETURNS FROM MED

Navy Lt. (jg) Cornelius D. Scully, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius D. Scully of 215 76th St., Virginia Beach, Va., returned to Norfolk, Va., Aug. 30, aboard the radar picket destroyer USS Vesole after a seven-month tour of duty with the U. S. Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

A unit of Destroyer Division 62, the Vesole participated in various operational exercises besides visiting France, Italy, Spain and Greece.

During the Korean War a helicopter from the heavy cruiser USS Helena made so many successful rescues of downed pilots that it earned the name, "Last Chance Taxi."

Mme. Kuwabara To Visit Beach

Flower lovers and growers will be interested to hear that the famous Mme. Seicho Kuwabara, Japanese flower artist, now living in Montreal where she has her studio, is expected to pay a second visit to this resort around September 15. Mrs. J. Wesley Gardner of the Martha Washington.

If it can be arranged, Mrs. Gardner hopes to have Mme. Kuwabara give an exhibition of her art in flower arrangement while here. She would like that her guest explain the tea ceremony and the "Moon and Cloud" rites that have interested so many American and foreign tourists visiting Japan.

On her first visit to Virginia Beach, Mme. Kuwabara took keen delight in exploring the fields and marshes in quest of native plants and flowers. She became very much interested in a type of bamboo discovered in several places which she claimed were of a high nutritious quality.

Mme. Kuwabara certainly needs no introduction in the flower arranging field. Her pupils come from many parts of the world. Wives of the military officers long stationed in Japan have taken up the art and studied with many native teachers, but for a final diploma have gone to Montreal for a course under her personal instruction.

Long before coming to Montreal to make her home she was recognized as the first artist in her country in this highly developed field. She is expected to arrive about September 15 to remain about 10 days to two weeks.

In the days before chaplains were a part of the Navy, Art. 2 of the "Rules for the Regulation of the Navy" stated, "The commanders of ships are to take care that divine service be performed twice a day on board, and a sermon preached on Sundays unless bad weather or other extraordinary accidents prevent it."

Bloodmobile To Celebrate 10th Anniversary

Dr. Southgate Leigh of Norfolk — a man with a life-saving idea — was the leader in getting local citizens who were interested in the American Red Cross program to set up the Tidewater Regional Blood Center on Sept. 15, 1949.

There will be an observance of this tenth anniversary with a Red Cross bloodmobile visit on Tuesday, Sept. 15, at the Norfolk Naval Shipyard, Portsmouth. The bloodmobile will be the place of the first local American Red Cross bloodmobile visit.

The Eastern Virginia and North Carolina blood program, conducted by 42 American Red Cross chapters, including Portsmouth, in the Tidewater Regional Blood Program, provided 37,192 pints of blood for civilian and military hospital patients during the fiscal year ending June 30.

American Red Cross chapters collections during this period netted 25,619 pints of life-saving blood. Military donors gave 17,314 pints. Drop-in civilian donors at the Norfolk Blood Center provided 4,289 pints.

Two American Red Cross Bloodmobiles operating from Norfolk made 335 visits to communities scattered from Colonial Beach on the Potomac to Pink Hill, North Carolina and from Princess Anne County to Petersburg-Hopewell — an area of approximately 32,000 square miles in Tidewater Virginia and North Carolina. The population of this area is estimated at 1,600,000 persons.

The National Outlook

The Steel Strike Becomes Serious

By Ralph Hooley
It is true to say that the steel strike is beginning to become serious. For the 500,000 who walked out on July 14 it was serious on that first day, and for the approximately 125,000 to 150,000 workers who have been laid off since then they were out of jobs. But there is another sense in which the strike is beginning to bite. This is the effect it is about to have on the economy as a whole.

For the first half of this year steel production was artificially stimulated by feverish buying in anticipation of the strike. No one knows exactly how much inventory was accumulated, but it was large — probably the greatest volume ever held by steel users and warehouses. It was generally estimated that there was enough inventory to last for up to eight weeks before other industries would be hurt. We are now in the seventh week of the strike and, except for relatively few firms, there still are no serious shortages. But this situation cannot last much longer.

Secretary Mitchell's Findings Secretary of Labor Mitchell, who is acting as a one man fact-finder, says by mid-September many industries will begin to feel the shortage. He mentions specifically freight car manufacturers and producers of machinery and chemicals. Railroads, coal mining, some construction, trucking, and ore shipping already have been adversely affected. In the automobile industry there is enough inventory to bring out the 1960 models in substantial volume. Military production has not yet been curtailed, and the Government stands ready to give priority to the needs of this field.

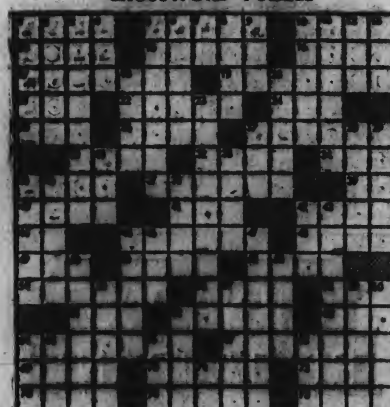

What are the prospects of any early settlement of the strike? At the moment they appear bleak.

Payroll losses are running about $70 million a week, but there has been no move on the part of the workers to return to their jobs. As a matter of fact it is almost impossible for such a move to develop. The union is all-powerful and it would necessitate a repudiation of the leaders to go back to work. That is a serious step and conditions will have to get much worse before it is even a possibility.

The struck industry companies are losing money, because they have to maintain their plants even while they are not operating. But there is no evidence that the companies are on the verge of capitulating to the demands of the union. Presumably their offer of any increase in wages which does not force up the cost of production still stands, but the unions will have none of this offer because it means that steel management must be given the right to eliminate certain featherbedding practices.

Government Role
Is there anything the Government can do? At the moment the answer is "No." The only power the government has, apart from providing a federal mediator, which it did weeks ago, is to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act. Before it can invoke that there must be a declaration of emergency — a declaration that the public welfare is being threatened. There is no basis yet for such a declaration.

NEWS FOR VETERANS

Here is some advice for veterans, survivors and dependents who receive checks from the Veterans Administration:

First of all, if a veteran receives a check to which he is entitled, he is not entitled to cash it without first writing to the Veterans Administration for an explanation. Money once spent is difficult to pay back, and the veteran will be required to return it sooner or later. If a veteran receives a check which is less than the amount to which he believes he is entitled, he can cash it without in any way waiving his right to claim the full amount.

Veteran students on GI bill sub-stistence allowances sometimes receive overpayments. In these cases, and in any other case where the amount is larger than it should be, it is better not to cash the check but to return it at once to the VA. This is better than having the training stopped or having to make a refund, and the VA will make proper adjustment to correct the error.

Pension and compensation rights stop for veterans' widows who remarry, but the children's rights continue in larger amounts. The increase for the children cannot be granted, however, until the new marriage certificate has been received by the VA and the widow's account adjusted and closed. It is also necessary that some person be legally appointed to act as guardian for the children.

Veterans of Korean service who hold GI term insurance were re-insured by the Veterans Administration of savings of some two-thirds in their premium costs that may be had by exchanging the policies for a newly authorized similar type of GI term policies.

The policies which are subject to this exchange and the consequent saving in premium costs can be identified by the code letters, "RS," which precede the policy numbers of each certificate. VA said some 600,000 veterans of Korean service hold this type of policy and may apply for the exchange.

The principal difference between the new and older types of policy is that the new kind must be converted to one of the permanent forms of GI insurance before the veteran reaches age 50. This should not prove a hardship, VA said, since most veterans with term policies would find term policy premium rates so high beyond age 50 that they would in any case convert to a permanent type policy before reaching that age.

Full information on making this exchange for veterans with "RS" GI policies may be secured from any VA office.

VA said the new kind of insurance at lower rates has become possible following passage of a new law, which itself was based on the fact of more favorable mortality experience for veterans of Korea service than had been originally expected.

VA suggested a means of saving on insurance premiums for another type of policyholders. Veterans who from VA may instruct the agency receive compensation payments to deduct the premiums direct from compensation payments.

If this is done, the veteran saves the time and expense of drawing a check or money order and mailing it to a VA district office. He also obviates the danger of missing a premium payment and having his policy lapse.

Veterans who are drawing retirement pay may similarly have the branch of service with which they are connected make out an allotment from the retirement pay to meet their GI insurance premiums.

The Veterans Administration is going to send to all veterans and widows and orphans of veterans who get pensions an explanation of the terms of the new Veterans Pension Act of 1959, enacted by the 86th Congress.

This was announced by Lione F. Doss, Officer-in-Charge, Veterans Administration Office, Norfolk, Va., who said the information on the new law will be mailed along with their pension checks for September.

The new law does not apply to veterans receiving compensation for service-connected disabilities or to widows and orphans of veterans who died of service-connected causes.

The new law will not take effect until July 1, 1960. Mr. Doss said all applications for pensions after that date will come under its terms. Persons already on the pension rolls will have to make a choice before July 1, 1960, as to whether they wish to remain under the present pension system or change over to the new system.

Only one choice will be allowed, however. If a person chooses to go under the new pension system, he will not be permitted to change back at a later date to the old system.

Mr. Doss said the new law provides that the amount of pension will be based on the amount of other income which the veteran or veteran's dependent receives. The greater the income, the lower the pension and vice versa.

There is still considerable confusion among veterans about the two Veterans Administration benefits called "pension" and "compensation." There are definite differences and the two terms are not interchangeable. In 1946 Congress decreed that VA monetary benefits for service-connected disability or death should thereafter be designated "compensation" and not "pension."

Compensation is payable by the VA to persons of either wartime or peacetime service who suffer from a disability of 10% or more which is connected with their service. Death compensation is payable to the widows, orphans, or dependent parents of men killed in action or who died of wounds or disease incurred in service. The peacetime rates are at 50% of the wartime rates.

Veteran's pension may be paid to a veteran of wartime service who is permanently and totally disabled due to disabilities not connected with his service but which disabilities are not the result of willful misconduct or vicious habits. Death pension may be paid to the widows and children of wartime veterans who died of causes unrelated to service. In any case, whether that of a living veteran or of a survivor, VA pension cannot be paid except upon a finding of economic need, measured by income limits prescribed by law.

Thomas A. Moore, Norfolk service officer for the Division, at 203 City Hall Avenue, will be pleased to assist and advise any person concerning veterans' affairs. Moore visits the Convention Center ("The Dome"), Pacific Avenue at 19th Street, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. only, on the second and fourth Thursdays each month.

Teach your children good manners outdoors as well as indoors: put trash and litter in proper receptacles. With their help and yours, we can all keep America Beautiful.

Postmaster Cites Effects of Obscenity on Juvenile Delinquency; Urges Help

The vile, nation-wide mail order traffic in obscene materials has played a flagrant part in the alarming rise in juvenile delinquency in the United States, according to Postmaster Nash.

Mr. Nash said that this point has been emphasized once again by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield in a recent statement before a Congressional Committee studying the mail order obscenity racket and its vicious effects.

Postmaster Nash noted that "time after time, in police investigations of armed robbery, extortion, embezzlement and forgery, it has been found that those guilty were youthful collectors of highly obscene pictures and materials."

In his testimony before the Committee the Postmaster General emphasized that:

"Sociologists and psychologists tell us that exposure of children to pornographic pictures and literature may often lead to sexual aberrations."

"Any experienced law enforcement officer," Mr. Summerfield continued, "can give you the grim information that virtually every sex criminal has a record of affinity for obscene photographs and other such filth."

Postmaster Nash pointed out that this latter fact is what leads to the terrible indirect results of this sordid traffic.

"Many children who are never exposed to obscene material," he said, "can nevertheless become victims of the criminals who are affected by it. They can fall prey to the perverted imagination of the man who starts by pulling a little girl's braid and ends by taking her life."

Postmaster Nash stated flatly that this racket, which now operates at a half-billion dollar a year level, will keep on growing unless the members of every community take direct action to stamp it out.

He predicted that sex crimes will become far more prevalent than they are even today, as the fifth racketeers seek to pervert the minds of more and more children, and concluded with Mr. Summerfield's warning that, if this trend continues, "We can expect an ultimate breakdown in moral strength, order and decency in this country."

But, Postmaster Nash emphasized, "There is something each parent can do—action the parent can take to help prevent his children and children elsewhere from falling into the clutches of these racketeers."

His advice to parents is to take these steps:

1. If the contents of mail arriving in your home are obscene, save all the material including the envelope in which the material is received.

2. Put the material and the envelope promptly in the hands of your Postmaster, either personally or by mail.

Postmaster Nash assures parents that the Post Office Department will take immediate action to investigate and, where warranted, to bring about prosecution of the parties responsible for the mailing. Conviction can result in sentences of up to 10 years in jail and heavy fines.

And he adds that "If parents throughout the country take these three steps, our local community, and our entire nation, can look confidently to the day when this insidious menace will be stamped out."

Silver Tea To Be Held by Officers' Wives Club Sept. 15

A silver tea will be given by the wives of the officers of the 5th Naval District from 3 to 5 Sept. 15 in the garden of the Virginia House, quarters of Admiral and Mrs. Massie Hughes. The tea will be open to all officers' wives in Tidewater area.

A fashion show will be presented by Tailored Togs with hair styles by Taylor Burgess. Music will be provided by DESFLO Four.

The Norfolk Girls Camp Fund will be one of the charities that will benefit from the proceeds. Refreshments will be furnished by the wives of the officers of the Yorktown Naval Weapons Depot and wives of the staff of the 5th Naval District.

Cancer Society Meeting Slated For Sept. 29

The Princess Anne unit, American Cancer Society announced today that the final plans had been completed for their annual meeting to be held at the Virginia Beach Convention Center on Tuesday, Sept. 29 at 8:30 p.m.

Mrs. Paul Dolgins, president of the unit, stated that through the diligent efforts of the executive committee and with the assistance of the Virginia division, it has been arranged for Dr. William T. Dabney, III, of the Medical College of Virginia to be the featured speaker at this meeting. His subject will be "new discoveries in cancer research, and their effect upon us." The committee felt that this message would be of vital interest to many people in the area, therefore other clubs and organizations have been invited to send representatives.

Little Giants Down Thunderbirds for Championship

The Little Giants of the National Little League, became Champs when they won over the Thunderbirds 2-1, in the final play-off game of the season.

Tommy Nolen and Donnie Wilkerson combined pitching forces for their win. The two teams were locked in a 1-1 tie throughout most of the ball game, but in the bottom of the sixth, John Ort brought in the winning run. Stephen Michael hit a beautiful double into center field, John Milner got the only clean hit for the Thunderbirds. This was a tight game, with the hits few and far between.

As we close our baseball season, we would like to say that we have seen some very good ball games, played by true sports. We feel that our Little Leaguers have lived up to that old motto of the sports world — "Win or lose, be a good sport."

Coffee By The Roadside Means A Safer Vacation

How Americans love to travel! Come vacation-time, we just get in our cars and go. Whether it's a long trip or a short one, the whole family goes along to discover new and exciting places.

The fact is, however, that because Americans have the travel bug, driving anywhere today is increasingly hazardous. To drive safely in heavy traffic, you have to be on your toes and constantly alert. According to highway authorities, most of our automobile accidents are caused by fatigue and tension on the road. The remedy, they say, is to stop frequently along the way — once every hour or so — for a cup of coffee. The coffee gives you a lift and perks you up for the drive ahead — and it also gives you a chance to stretch your legs and relax.

It's possible that there won't be so many coffee stands on the roads you travel this summer, so here's a suggestion for taking your coffee-break in the car with you. Simply fill a vacuum bottle with fragrant, hot coffee and pack it in the car on top of the rest of your belongings. Then for a quick something to "go with," make up some special snacks before you leave home. Try these Roadside Snacks — they're baking powder biscuits, homemade or packaged, filled with two delicious mixtures. Then, whenever you feel like taking a break, pull over to the side of the road, pour your coffee and watch the other cars stream by! You'll be sure to have a happy — and very safe — vacation.

ROADSIDE SNACK

Split small baking powder biscuits, homemade or packaged, and fill with either of the following mixtures.

Peanut Filling
 1/2 cup creamy peanut butter;
 1 tablespoon drained sweet pickle relish; 1 tablespoon chili sauce and a few drops Tabasco.

Cheese Filling
 1/2 cup sharp cheddar cheese spread; 1 tablespoon prepared mustard; 1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and 1 tablespoon minced stuffed olives.

This suggestion applies at all times — no matter whether you're travelling in summer-time, — Autumn-time—Winter-time or Spring-time.

All of us get hungry — while travelling — and if there are long hops — between Restaurants — do follow this suggestion. If the children are to be along, fill a vacuum bottle with lemonade — so they'll have drink with their snack. You may be planning a fall vacation right — now — so in that planning — Plan a safe vacation, please — Bye — now —

Breakfast Club To Launch New Program Sept. 16

The Virginia Beach Breakfast Club, a chapter of ICL (International Christian Leadership), will launch a special fall-semester educational program at its Wednesday, Sept. 16 meeting.

Charles Fuller, chairman, announced that the program, titled "WORKSHOP IN CHRISTIAN LEADERSHIP," will present a series of informative lectures by ministers of various denominations. Purpose of this initial series, he says, is to stress the basic agreement in doctrine and practice among the Protestant churches.

Scheduled speakers for the first six sessions are: Sept. 16 Rev. Henry G. Morgan, Presbyterian; Sept. 23 Rev. Charles O. Kidd, Methodist; Sept. 30, Rev. John D. Keister, Lutheran; Oct. 14, Rev. Edmund Berkeley, Episcopal; Oct. 21, Mrs. Robert D. Wilson, Friends; Oct. 28, Rev. Wadell Waters, Baptist.

The Virginia Beach Breakfast Club meets every Wednesday morning from 7 to 8 a.m. at the chapter house of Galilee Episcopal Church, 40th and Pacific. Breakfast is served for $1. Mr. Fuller states that laymen and clergymen of all denominations are welcome and urged to attend.

STOP!

Schools are now in session. About 2,500 new pupils pour into the Princess Anne-Virginia Beach system each year, bringing about an enrollment of more than 17,000. What does this mean to you as a driver? It means increased chances of serious accident or death to school children by careless driving.

We make an urgent appeal to every driver to keep the kids in mind by knowing and practicing the ABC's of safe driving at all times. You can prevent disaster by watching out for children near schools.

As the youngsters head to class, safe driving is especially important in school zones. But remember, on any street, there may be children on the way to or from school or at play.

Do your part by making every day, safe-driving-day. Above all, expect the unexpected! As a further reminder, we urge you to be safe and not sorry-be always ready to STOP for kids on the go.

This could happen to anybody

ARAGONA VILLAGE CIVIC LEAGUE

Mr. Larry Marshall, President of the Aragona Village Civic League, announced that the first meeting of the season would be held at 8:30 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 10, at the Aragona Village Elementary School. All residents and homeowners of the Aragona Village area are cordially invited to attend the meeting. The agenda lists many subjects for discussion and consideration which are of interest to all. In addition, Mr. Carroll Clough, Princess Anne County Supervisor, will be guest speaker of the evening. Mr. Clough works and activities in the county have given him a wealth of information and experience in civic matters and the subject of his talk for the evening gives promise of both interest and entertainment.

Mr. Joseph McDaniels, Chairman of the Membership Committee, stated that the membership drive and contest held during August was a great success. Approximately 137 new members were obtained, which, together with those members currently on record will give the Aragona Village Civic League considerable support for the very splendid work this league is undertaking in the community. President Larry Marshall stated that street lights for the north side of the Village now appear to be a certainty, and there are many and varied improvements and comforts of living in the Village which may be credited to the combined efforts of the civic minded individuals who have taken part in the activities of the Aragona Village League. The several teams participating in the membership drive contest were enthusiastic about potential results of the drive. Families were generous in their praise of the projects accomplished by the League and promised support of its activities. The teams winning the cash prizes for obtaining the greatest number of new members were Mrs. Stello and Mrs. Scharsberg won the first prize of $15.00; Mrs. Diclemente and Mrs. Cross won second prize of $10.00; and third prize was won by Mr. Larry Marshall and Mr. Joseph McDaniels. Mrs. Diclemente and Mrs. Cross stated that they were turning over their cash prize money to the Welfare Fund which the Aragona Village League is creating for use in the Village.

President Larry Marshall and Membership Chairman Joseph McDaniels extend a hearty welcome to all families to take part in this week's first meeting of the season, and later meetings which will be held from time to time as announced. It is felt that these meetings provide a happy meeting ground for suggestions and accomplishments pertaining to the civic welfare and living conditions of the family in Aragona Village.

Your Social Security

Benefit payments may be made to wives and children of disabled workers who are getting monthly payments as a result of changes in the social security law. Similar payments are payable to dependent husbands if the wife qualifies as a disabled worker and is getting monthly benefit checks. Amendments passed by Congress in August 1958 make these payments to dependents possible.

The change in the law was designed to provide benefits to certain family members of disabled workers under substantially the same rules as payments to the dependents of a retired worker. In brief, if a disabled worker is entitled to draw benefits and his wife is at least 62 years of age, she too may be entitled to receive monthly payments. If the wife is under 62 years of age but has a child under age 18, or a disabled child of any age in her care, both she and the child may be entitled to receive monthly payments. If the disabled worker is a married woman, monthly payments may be made to her entitled children and to her husband if he is at least 62 years old and is dependent upon the wife for support.

Disabled workers with wives, children or dependent husbands should get in touch with the nearest district office of the Social Security Administration to discuss the possibility of these additional payments and to file the necessary applications. Only those dependents of disabled workers who are at least 50 years old but not yet 65 can be eligible under the new law. Some dependent children, wives and dependent husbands of disabled workers will lose benefits if they do not file application immediately. Send your inquiries to the Social Security Office, 220 W. Brambleton Ave., Norfolk 10, Va.

for making it possible for these boys to participate in this program. Past president, J. Hugh Barnes received a bronze plaque for fine service rendered as president in the 1958-59 year.

Ray Shields was presented a Key Pin for having brought two new members into the club.

OCEAN PARK EXPANDING FIRE STATION
According to Mr. George C. Lyon, fire chief of the Ocean Park Volunteer Fire Department, construction is under way on a $50,000 addition to the Ocean Park Volunteer Fire Department headquarters.

The new addition will measure 50 by 40 feet and contain seating capacity for more than 150 people. A movable stage and kitchen will be included. At the same time, the existing headquarters will be remodeled.

When completed the headquarters will measure 90 by 60 feet and contain a cloak room, communications room, barracks, rest rooms and other facilities.

The front part of the building will house the department's five major pieces of equipment.

The fire department is composed of about 37 active members and they operate two pumps, an ambulance, a jeep equipped with fire-fighting apparatus and a jeep and trailer which transport a rescue boat. A 4,000 gallon water trailer will be put into service in the near future.

A general contractor is doing the masonry work on the addition and when that part is completed the interior will be finished by volunteer labor. When all the work is completed the whole building will have a brick veneer exterior.

According to Mr. Lyon money for this project was raised by donations, contributions, subscriptions, fish-frys and oyster roasts. The organization sponsors a Junior Fire Department and four of these boys have graduated to the regular Fire Department. Before the last jeep was purchased the building and equipment, was appraised at $100,000.

SUCCESSFUL POULTRYWOMAN

Deciding to raise chickens on her suburban acreage, Mrs. Smith placed some eggs under a hen, then asked the county agent how long before she could expect them to hatch. "I believe," said the county agent, "that the rule is 21 days for chickens and 23 days for ducks."

Later the agent inquired as to what luck she'd had. "Oh," said Mrs. Smith, "when they did not hatch on the 21st day, I sold them, I didn't want ducks."

ON THE DOTTED LINE

Today and tomorrow, Sept. 10 and 11, are two of the most important days for farmers in Princess Anne County this year.

These are the last two days of the final sign-up period for cost share with the ACP Program in establishing cover crops and permanent pastures. The ACP Program will pay farmers approximately 50 per cent of the total cost of establishing these two practices.

Now is the time to plant winter cover crops. Winter cover crops mean winter grazing and cheaper winter feed for your livestock.

Regular permanent pastures will provide continuous grazing for about seven to eight months during the year. This leaves about from Nov. 1 to April 1. A winter grazing program will provide, here in southeastern Virginia, from ninety to one hundred days more grazing. One acre of a well fertilized small grain, rye grass, crimson clover cover crop will produce 400 to 800 pounds of protein and provide grazing for three to five cows to the acre for a good length of time.

Farmers here in Tidewater have produced more than one hundred pounds of beef to the acre by grazing winter cover crops from Nov. through March. Similar production is noted in milk on Dairy Farms. Sheep thrive on winter pasture. The result has been higher farm income.

Winter pastures are a very important part of your cover crop program. The reduction in the loss of plant food, however, is probably equally as important. Many of our corn and soybean fields here in the county are left bare over the winter. A cover crop on these bare fields will save us thousands of dollars worth of valuable plant food from leaching. Cover crops help in adding and maintaining the organic matter that is so vital in the production of high crop yields on our soils. They also increase water absorption and improve the soil tilth.

Unless soybeans are followed by a cover crop, much of the nitrogen fixed by the soybean plant will be lost. Experiments at Holland and at the former Williamsburg Experiment Station showed that a good growth of crimson clover turned under, will produce as much corn as one hundred pounds of actual nitrogen in the form of commercial fertilizer.

The County Agricultural Conservation Program will assist you by sharing in the cost of planting cover crops. The average amount of the ACP cost share for cover crops is $11.85 per acre. This is the kind of help you can't afford to miss out on. With the ACP willing to take 50 per cent of the cost it looks like a very good bet to me.

Not only can you receive cost share for cover crops, but you can also receive assistance for the establishment of permanent pastures. For those of you who desire to establish pastures this fall, then today and tomorrow is also the final two days for signing up. The average cost share for the County will be about $17.65 per acre for the establishment of permanent pastures.

Again I say that you can't afford to miss out on this opportunity. Let's have your name on the dotted line.

HOGS

Hog prices have dropped off the plateau they rested on for a few weeks and have started the slide to the fall bottom.

If you have hogs to sell and they are approaching the finish range look them over carefully and sell as soon as you can. Don't sell light, but it may not pay you to wait until they reach the top of the weight range. You'll have to watch market prices and make this decision.

In Virginia, hogs were unchanged to 75 cents lower last week and receipts in the Virginia Auctions declined 10 per cent from the previous week. In the 12 major markets, receipts were unchanged from the previous week, but down 13 per cent from the same week a year ago.

In Southeastern Virginia buyers were paying $14.25 to $15.00.

CORN

We're now in a period of transition with corn prices—from old to new crop corn. But you can expect the new crop corn to stay near the $1.20 range during early harvest.

There's no reason to rush your corn to market and lose price because of high moisture. Better let it stay in the field if necessary a little longer. But don't delay harvest too long because one of the price advantages Virginia producers have is the early harvest.

Generally, you may expect moisture discounts to run one and a half cents for each one half of a per cent of moisture over 15 1/2 per cent to 25 per cent. If your corn is over 25 per cent moisture, it is definitely to your advantage to let it dry a little longer in the field.

Based on past years, corn prices usually head lower in November as if you sell, either do it in early harvest or hold over until early spring. But don't forget to weigh the risks involved.

December futures are $1.12.

It looks like egg prices will move up during the next couple of weeks. Demand is good—particularly for the large—and should continue to pick up with school opening and fall approaching.

Generally, overall egg picture looks more favorable than it did a few months ago. By October 1, laying flocks for the nation are expected to be off by five per cent from a year ago. In Virginia we will have a reverse of this with some increase indicated.

So, it looks like prices by mid-October will go above the year ago level and will probably average somewhat higher during the remainder of the year.

Most of the Virginia egg markets remained at the week's level. Estimated receipts from 20 Virginia receivers increased five per cent over the previous week.

Last week, Richmond grade A large were bringing 36 cents and the mediums were 21 cents a dozen. Shenandoah Valley eggs were 34-38 cents on the A large and mediums were 21 to 24 cents a dozen.

New York A large eggs last week were one to four and a half cents higher at 41 to 45 cents. Mediums were 24 to 25 cents.

WOOL REFERENDUM

Wool producers throughout the country will vote in September to decide on continuing for another three years the advertising and sales promotion program on wool and lambs. Such a program has been in operation for the past four years and is financed by small deductions from incentive payments to producers under the National Wool Program. Ballots were mailed to wool producers by county ASC offices prior to September 1. To be counted in the vote, the ballots must be returned by the producers to the respective ASC county offices by September 30. The ASC Chairman in Princess Anne County urges farmers, when they have studied the ballot, to execute and return it promptly. Results of the vote will be announced in October. If approved by the necessary two-thirds of the growers voting, promotion deductions will begin with the 1959 incentive payments.

FARM FEED PREPARATION MAY CUT PRODUCTION COSTS

The farmer who grows and processes his own feed may be far ahead of the game.

Feed is one of the biggest cost items in any livestock or poultry enterprise. Reducing feed costs mean more profits, and home grown grains are one of the cheapest sources of concentrates for livestock feed.

Today it is possible to get equipment for farm use that will mix and grind feed with a minimum of supervision, labor and power. With elevating and conveying equipment most of the labor can be eliminated from storage, grinding, mixing and feeding.

Farmers who do not yet have automatic grinding and mixing equipment should consider installing it.

WEEDY PASTURES HAZARD TO STOCK

Weedy pastures are dangerous to livestock.

Such weeds as lambs quarter, pigweed, white cockle, burdock, smartweed, boneset, and others may contain high amounts of nitrates. If eaten by an animal in feed, they may bring on abortion. If the pasture becomes weedy, mow it. Practice weed control. Promote top pasture by fertilization and good management. Do not let animals eat themselves "out of house and home" by close grazing which weakens the sod and encourages the growth of weeds.

VALUE OF TIMBER OFTEN NOT KNOWN BY FARMER

A farmer can usually give an informed guess as to how much his corn crop is worth.

But, the same farmer may have only a fuzzy idea about the value of his timber crop. Of all the crops grown on the farm, farmers have the least knowledge of the value of their timber.

Timber of a particular size and species usually commands a uniform price at any one sawmill. However, when a sawmill operator buys a tract of timber, he must figure on the kind of products that will come from the trees, and how much it will cost him to get the logs to the mill or to move the mill to the timber.

Some of the factors that determine stumpage value are the size and species of the trees to be cut, efficiency of the sawmill operator, volume per acre to be cut, location and topography of timber tract, and quality of the timber.

If you have timber ready for cutting, or if someone has asked about buying the timber, you should contact your county agent or the nearest district office of the Virginia Division of Forestry and request a timberland examination and recommendations for management. This advice is a free service.

Have the timber marked and estimated before offering it for sale. With this information you know exactly the number of trees selected for cutting and the estimated volume in board feet for each species of tree marked. The Virginia Division of Forestry provides this service for a small fee, or the services of a consulting forester are available at a nominal fee.

CONSTIPATED? Medical reports show how folks over 35 can establish regularity

After 35, irregularity often becomes a problem. What you need is something that aids nature and helps establish regularity. Such an aid to regularity is the daily use of SERUTAN. Here's medical evidence: A group of men and women took SERUTAN daily under medical supervision. In case after case SERUTAN, taken daily, helped establish regularity. So, for real relief from constipation after 35, try SERUTAN, powder of granular.

Children's Home Society Appeal Through Letters Is Underway

The campaign to support the work of the Children's Home Society of Virginia was initiated on September 14 with letters to the 2,050 friends of the state's oldest adoption agency.

Mrs. A. P. Randolph and Mr. A. Gordon Stephenson are the Virginia Beach-Princess Anne County chairman, and Mr. Barton Black, admiralty attorney, is the Norfolk area chairman.

In the past eight years the Children's Home Society of Virginia has placed 816 babies and children in adoptive homes. At the beginning of this eight year period—January 1, 1951—there were 172 babies in the Society's care and 267 new ones have been received.

a total of 1,102. The quality of service given to these babies, to their natural parents, and to their adoptive parents is excellent. Many adoptive parents have requested or received a second child.

When you receive your letter from the Children's Home Society, please send them a generous gift, because their adoptive babies are completely dependent on the contributions made by you.

If you have not had an opportunity to contribute to this campaign, please send your gift to the Children's Home Society of Virginia, in care of Mrs. A. P. Randolph or Mr. A. Gordon Stephenson.

Meeting for Jehovah's Witnesses Opening in Dome Here Friday

Conference officials Kenneth R. Savoy and Windell G. Sawyer have arrived. Conference activity will get under way at 6:45 p.m. Friday evening.

Principal lecture of the conference will be the public discourse, "When Is God's Will To Be Done On Earth?" to be delivered by Savoy at 3 p.m. Sunday afternoon.

According to Curtis Whitehurst, circuit public relations officer, all sessions are open to the public and no collections will be taken.

The Friday night session will consist of a model Ministry School and Ministry Development Class which are conducted weekly by all congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Participating on the Friday program will be Savoy, Windell Sawyer, circuit supervisor, Robert Breedlove of South Norfolk, Andrew Yeatts of Portsmouth, C. W. Pine, H. M. Stanbrook and W. W.

Pine of Hampton, Kentwood Stark of Yorktown and Harry Brooks of Norfolk.

Highlights of the Saturday sessions will be the baptism discourse at 1:30 p.m. and the immersion of new ministers and the first showing of the new color film produced by the Watchtower Society. "The attendance of over a quarter million persons at this gathering we believe to be unprecedented in the history of Christian gatherings," Whitehurst said. "The delegates from 123 countries that attended and worked and worshipped together for eight days was a demonstration that worship of Jehovah God coupled with love and unity can surmount the barriers dividing this world and lay a foundation for an enduring Godly society of people on earth."

Murder Charge Dismissed by Judge Reed; Holland May Seek Grand Jury in Case

The dismissal of a murder charge against Mrs. Justine (Ruby) Paul by Judge J. Davis Reed Jr. in Princess Anne County Court Monday afternoon may not be the end of the matter.

Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney J. Peter Holland III said, "I will look into the possibility of asking the grand jury to act on the case."

Mrs. Paul, 31, was charged with shooting her husband in the back of the head on July 21. Reed ruled the shooting was justifiable homicide after listening to testimony after a preliminary hearing. The husband, Cecil Paul, 32, was shot twice after he forcibly entered the home of Mrs. Hazel Vaughan in the 1200 block of McDonald Rd. about 2 p.m. on the day of the shooting. He died a few minutes after the shooting.

The Pauls were former county residents. They were visiting here after moving to Florida. They were separated from their daughter, who was living with Mrs. Vaughan.

Holland said that he and Samuel Goldblatt, attorney for the victim's family, had agreed to ask for a continuance of the hearing until Friday.

He said he called and made arrangements for the continuance, "but somewhere along the line the signals must have gotten crossed."

"Attorneys cannot agree to a continuance without my consent," Reed declared. He said neither of the attorneys consulted him.

Neddy Holland, Goldblatt's son, was present at the hearing. He said he was the father of the victim.

Detective Harold W. Aldrich said an investigation revealed that Paul and his wife had argued on the night of the incident and that the husband had threatened to kill Mrs. Paul.

Aldrich said Paul followed his wife to the home of Mrs. Vaughan and kicked in the door after she fired a warning shot high through the door.

Mrs. Paul shot her husband when he forced his way into the house, Aldrich said. The detective said he found the man dead in a chair with wounds in his stomach and thigh. Frederick T. Stant Jr. represented Mrs. Paul.

"I was told Monday morning that my son was ill with scarlet fever. I was advised to take my daughter, who had been exposed, to Norfolk for inoculation."

"My investigator, Garnett Riley, advised Frederick T. Stant Jr., defense attorney, of the situation and asked that the hearing be continued until Friday. Stant would not agree and the case was heard," Holland added.

The case was dismissed on the evidence and not because the Commonwealth's Attorney was absent," Holland added.

Lutheran Service Center Attracts Many in Summer

Approximately 4,000 service men used the Lutheran Service Center here during the summer, a spokesman said this week.

The center offered swimming, ping pong, lounging and reading as well as counseling by the pastor and hostesses.

Foreign sailors from England, Scotland, Germany, The Netherlands, Columbia and Spain, also used the facility. Mrs. Catherine Slinger, a hostess, met a sailor from her birthplace in Kirkcaldy, Scotland.

In addition to serving the service men of the area, the center was host to 40 newboys from Albany, N.Y. who had won trips to Norfolk. The boys spent three days visiting ships, submarines and airfields and would visit with a swim in the ocean.

William Marwede, eastern area director of the Lutheran Service Commission, praised the work of the center on a recent visit and made plans for next year.

The center is located at 15th street and Atlantic avenue and is sponsored by the congregation of the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd of Virginia Beach together with the Lutheran Service Commission.

Guilty Plea Entered in Case Involving Marine in Theft Try

A plea of guilty was entered in Circuit Court Tuesday morning by one of two Marine corporals charged with the armed robbery of Mrs. Russell Simpson Jr. of Rt. 003 after a high-speed automobile chase that ended in an exchange of shots Aug. 28.

Judge Robert S. Wahab accepted the plea of Donald D. Meinick, 21, and ordered a presentence report from the county probation officer.

Dr. Hans J. Rittner Named to Health District Post

Dr. Hans J. Rittner, Assistant Director of the Virginia Beach-Princess Anne County-Norfolk County-South Norfolk Health District will leave October 1 and take up his duties as director for Suffolk and Nansemond, Isle of Wight and Southampton counties.

Dr. Rittner, formerly in private practice in the Northern Neck of Virginia, assumed his public health duties as an assistant to Health Officer, Dr. William Y. Garrett a year ago.

A native of Germany, he has come a long and circuitous route to Tidewater from Berlin. He was a battalion surgeon for the U.S. Armed Forces in Germany during 1948-1953. With the sponsorship of an American Army Captain with whom he met in Germany, Dr. Rittner was able to enter the U.S. He became a United States citizen last year.

Dr. Rittner says he will make Virginia his permanent home. He has left Virginia for several trips to the West Coast, Canada, Florida and a trip around the world, but he has always returned to Virginia. "I feel at home here," Dr. Rittner declares.

"I have enjoyed every minute of my year's stay here in Tidewater. My work with Dr. Garrett has been very stimulating and successful," Dr. Rittner was in charge of the mass x-ray survey in Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County during June and the first part of July.

Dr. Rittner regrets leaving Virginia Beach because of the proximity to the ocean and the "metropolitan atmosphere" of the Virginia Beach-Norfolk area.

Mrs. Inge Rittner is a fellow German immigrant who married the doctor in this country. They have a three months old baby boy.

They obtained statements from the two men and informed the Princess Anne police. Further police investigation led to additional charges against Meinick, Spadevecchia, and a third Marine.

Meinick fired his 45 automatic four times. Two shots went through the roof, one into the dashboard and one into the front seat of the car.

The two men fled after Meinick had grabbed Mrs. Simpson's gun and Spadevecchia had taken a paper bag with them. They apparently thought contained the store's receipts for the day.

The bag actually contained a bottle of mouthwash and an empty peanut butter jar.

Naval authorities became suspicious and investigated when Meinick reported to sick bay for treatment of the leg wound caused by the one shot Mrs. Simpson fired.

They obtained statements from the two men and informed the Princess Anne police. Further police investigation led to additional charges against Meinick, Spadevecchia, and a third Marine.

He was recognized for his work many times during his 45 years for the local installation. He is now the post engineer at Camp Pendleton for the Virginia National Guard.

It's Always Cooky Time

When everybody says, "I want the recipe," it's a good sign. That's the story of these cooky recipes in our column today. These cookies are wonderful to tuck into lunchboxes, for an afternoon or bedtime snack with a glass of milk, or to serve with fresh or canned fruit for dessert.

Storing Cookies

Soft cookies should be stored in a container with a tight fitting cover. Sometimes a piece of apple or slice of bread may be added for extra softness.

Crisp cookies should be placed in a container with a loose fitting cover. Sometimes in humid weather they may become soft, if so, place in a 300 darva oven about 5 minutes.

Cooky Book

We test cooky recipes in our kitchen all the time. The excellent ones have been collected into a special cooky book. It's free if you'd like to have it, just write: Nancy Carter, P. O. Box 4358, Atlanta, Ga. Say "cooky book" and I'll send it.

FORT STORY TELLINGS

MAJOR GOTTSCHALL NAMED
TERMINAL SIGNAL OFFICER
Major Robert Gottschall has been assigned to Fort Story, Virginia, as the Signal Officer for the 4th Transportation Terminal Command "C".

A veteran of over 18 years service, Major Gottschall was last assigned to the U.S. Military Advisory Assistance Group at Taiwan, Formosa, where he served as Radio Advisor to the Signal Service Command of the Chinese Nationalist Army.

As the Terminal Signal Officer at Fort Story, Major Gottschall will be responsible for all communications, cryptography, and photography on the post.

During World War II, Major Gottschall served on the "Crimson Project"—a highly classified unit in the central Arctic regions, which was concerned with the ferrying of aircraft to Europe and was also a defensive unit. He has also attended various military and naval schools including the Signal Corps OCS, where he received his commission in 1942, and the Naval Amphibious Indocctrination Course, Pacific, where he attend classes in air support, landing craft, and instruction.

Before entering the military service, Major Gottschall was active in show business as an actor with stock companies, and was under contract to Twentieth-Century Fox as an actor and screen writer. Known as Robert Shaw, he appeared in 17 movies, many of which are currently being shown to television audiences including "Adam Had Four Sons" with Katherine Hepburn in the leading role.

During his off duty time Major Gottschall writes fiction stories for men's magazines. His last published story appeared in Climax under the title of "A World Full of Rubies".

Accompanying the new Signal Officer to Fort Story are his wife, the former Mary Sue Mills, of Oklahoma City, and their two sons, ages 10 and 12, and their one daughter, age 7.

PORT STORY HOUSEWIFE RECEIVES BRAZILIAN
OFFICERS

A Fort Story housewife played the role of hostess last week to a group of foreign dignitaries, when five Brazilian Army Officers visited the local U.S. Army Transportation Corps post.

Mrs. Leonard Newton, wife of Sergeant First Class Newton, of the 854th Transportation Company, received a visit from Lt. Col. F. A. P. and four other Brazilian officers at her home, quarters 453-C, last Thursday, as the foreign officers were being conducted on a tour of Fort Story.

Although the Brazilians were primarily at Fort Story to familiarize themselves with the military facilities of the post, they did express a great interest in the living conditions and dwellings on the post, and were consequently invited to visit the Newton home.

Mrs. Newton graciously received the Brazilian officers into her home and conducted them on a tour of the three bedroom unit, pointing out the many modern features of the Capehart unit. Although the visit was quite unexpected, Mrs. Newton presented her home in a most tasteful and attractive style of decoration and arrangement.

A service wife of only one year, Mrs. Newton, the former Connelia Ketchmore, of 50 Hoops Road, Newport News, Virginia, met Sergeant Newton in 1956, while he was stationed at Fort Eustis, Virginia.

LITTLE LEAGUE CHAMPS

The Braves, one of the four teams in the Fort Story Little League, became the 1959 League Champions last Friday afternoon as they defeated the Tigers for the second time in a three-game playoff by the score of 2 to 0.

The Braves' win came in the beginning of the fifth inning when Brian Huddy, playing his first year of Little League baseball, poled a long homer to drive in a man the Braves had resting on first.

The Yankees and the Dodgers were both eliminated in the first round playoffs, when they lost to the Tigers and the Braves.

A Little League banquet for the players, coaches and parents has been set for Tuesday evening, September 22 at the Fort Story Officers' Open Mess, according to CWO Jack Smith, Little League Commissioner for Fort Story. At the banquet baseball, autographed by the great Joe DiMaggio during his recent visit to the post, will be presented by coaches to the most valuable player on each team. In addition, the Braves, coached by Lt. Ellis "Corky" Morris, will be awarded the Little League Championship Cup.

At "Dance"

Chief Little Eagle will be one of the featured wrestlers on the weekly wrestling card at the Virginia Beach Convention Center next Tuesday night. The mat program gets under way at 8:30 p.m.

Woodson Warns of Illegal Use of Powered Vehicles

With the increasing use of both makeshift and commercially marketed "automobiles" powered by lawnmower or other small internal combustion engines, usually from 2 to 3½ horsepower, Col. C. W. Woodson, Jr., chairman of the Governor's Highway Safety Committee and Superintendent of State Police, today issued the warning that such vehicles come under the same rules and regulations as do standard automobiles.

Colonel Woodson stressed the fact that the Motor Vehicle Laws of Virginia (46.1-1 and 46.1-38b) define a motor vehicle as any vehicle self-propelled or designed for self propulsion, other than those used exclusively on stationary rails or tracks, as motor vehicles and subject to the Motor Vehicle Laws.

These laws provide that the operator must be at least 15 years of age and must have passed the required tests for an operator's license. In some localities, he noted, this minimum age has been raised by ordinance to 16. The vehicle must be registered and bear proper license plates and if the engine is 5-horsepower or over, the vehicle is subject to official inspection. The driver further comes under the "uninsured motorists" laws if he does not carry insurance.

Going further into the matter, Colonel Woodson advised that, even though the motor not be of as much as 5-horsepower and subject to inspection, the vehicle must be equipped with various safety devices approved by the State Police.

Operators are legally required to obey exactly the same traffic regulations as laid down for any other operators of motor vehicles and all of these regulations apply equally to motor scooters or motor bikes.

Such vehicles, however, may be operated exclusively upon private property without conforming to the regulations mentioned, although he warned that the offense of reckless driving includes such driving on any driveway or premises of a church, or school, or of any recreational facilities or of any business property open to the public.

REDESIGNED '60 CHEVY TRUCKS

A revolutionary new suspension system gives you improved ride, durability, and control on 1960 Chevrolet trucks. Front wheels are independently sprung on frictionless torsion bars. Rear suspensions are new, with coil springs on light-duty models and stronger, softer riding leaf springs on heavier models for improved cushioning of load and driver. New frames reduce height up to seven inches, with some cab floors at step-in level from the ground. Styling is new with rubber-mounted, roomier cabs. Inside steps have been eliminated, providing a full-width floor.

New Suspension Featured on '60 Chevrolet Trucks

Impressive gains in cushioning cargo and passengers from road shock, plus much greater stability and safety result from a revolutionary suspension system designed for 1960 Chevrolet trucks.

The totally redesigned truck suspension provides the nearest approach to passenger car ride and handling yet achieved, along with vastly improved durability. It has been under development for six years.

"Aside from the obvious advantage of passenger comfort, this new suspension offers an economic bonus to truck buyers," E. N. Cole, Chevrolet's general manager, commented. "Because road shock is largely absorbed by rugged suspension members instead of being driven into the frame, chances for damage to fragile cargoes are reduced and life of cabs, metal panels and other chassis components is prolonged, leading to lower maintenance costs."

In a clean break with the past, Chevrolet has replaced the hard-riding I-beam axle with independent front wheel suspension with use a new softer riding leaf spring with automatic adjustment of spring stiffness as the load increases.

In keeping with the "total redesign" theme, frames and other chassis elements also are redesigned and styling is changed along functional lines. Fenders, hood, and other panels are integrated with the new chassis for a more rigid, lower, roomier, more accessible cab and sturdier front end assembly.

An important feature of Chevrolet's new suspensions is that springs no longer are called upon to keep wheels and axles aligned and to take driving and braking forces, as in conventional systems. Since those functions are performed by durable control arms, springs need only to cushion the vehicle. It also makes possible the use of friction-free torsion bars in front, and coil springs at the rear in light models.

These two types of spring respond to small road shocks that would not flex conventional leaf springs because of interleaf friction, thus affording a smoother ride. On heavier duty rear leaf spring suspensions, design is such that only the proper spring length to give load support is in play at all times, giving a softer ride.

In addition to its superior ride, the new independent front suspension has many advantages. Unsprung weight is lower and wheel lift and shimmy are greatly reduced. "Wheel hop" is minimized on rough roads, giving better tire wear and prolonged suspension parts life. Ball joints simplify lubrication and afford correct friction for excellent ride, good wheel return, and automatic take-up of wear.

An important factor is that rugged control arms will keep front members in position in event of spring failure, unlike I-beam systems in which such a failure may seriously affect steering control. Also a safety consideration is the greater resistance to roll or sway on turns.

With the new rear suspensions, unloaded ride is much softer and fore-and-aft pitch greatly reduced. The assembly weighs less than conventional springs and affords impressive improvement in rear end stability, particularly on turns under load. Roll and sway also are markedly reduced.

Advances in strength and durability have kept pace with gains in ride and handling. Torsion bars, basically the same in design as those used successfully in heavy military tanks, have been thoroughly tested in laboratory and proving ground trials. Brutal test schedules have shown the new suspensions to go through two torturing 3000-mile runs over jolting cobblestones without failure, compared with conventional suspensions which failed halfway through the first run.

Frames also have been redesigned and strengthened. Laboratory tests show some frames to be 100 per cent stiffer and to have 21 per cent more beam strength. Ball joints and torsion bar springs on all but two models. Rear suspensions also are drastically changed, with coil springs on some light duty models. Heavier series New designs reduce cab heights, with some up to seven inches lower. On light-duty models seat level is a step-in height from the ground.

Cabs are roomier, with improved sealing against water and dust. Inside steps are eliminated, affording full width floors. All cabs are rubber-mounted, have more windshield area, and are 67 per cent stronger torsionally. Hoods are integrated with fenders for full-width accessibility to the engine compartment.

Re-proportioning of chassis, body, and sheet metal gives more favorable weight distribution, better maneuverability and greater stability. Positioning the cab of light-duty models farther forward increases front suspension load by up to eight per cent.

Many other improvements are offered in the 1960 Chevrolet truck line. Powerglide automatic transmission will be available for the first time on light-duty models. Both 6 and 8 cylinder engines will be available in some models not previously so equipped. Brake sizes on most models have been increased, with lining life prolonged by up to 40 per cent, and cooling has been improved. A new hydraulic clutch control system for smoother action and increased clutch life is standard on all but one model.

Numerous engine refinements also are offered, including improved oil control, new manifold for the largest engine, three point mounting, and optional front-end power take-off for heavy-duty engines.

The MIXING BOWL..

IT'S Fun TO COOK

By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

For the very best in food facts and recipes...
the practical, down-to-earth recipes that please both palate
and pocketbook, read the "Mixing Bowl" by Lucile
Clark each Thursday in the Sun-News.

Let's try some "sandwichery"
for the youngsters' school lunches.
Whether the small fry hurry home for the midday snack or tote it in a lunch box, sandwiches are synonymous with the eating break-recess-time or whatever they call it. They must "taste swell," of course, to intrigue busy little eager beavers into stopping long enough from playtime to absorb nourishment. And they must actually be nourishing to keep young energy and spirits bouncy. Fitting this picture very well are the many flavor and nutrition-packed fresh fruits and vegetables that can be worked into scrumptious sandwiches and lunch box salads and desserts.

Fresh foods, so essential to health, are particularly appealing when used in their zesty raw state in clever unusual ways. A youngster who may or may not munch carrot sticks out of a lunch box is sure to relish the fresh crunchy flavor of grated carrots mixed with hearty protein of deviled ham, or other meat or cheese spreads thus happily "in-takin'" a good ration of vitamin A. Carrots are one of the best sources of this health-giving good-looks-making vitamin.

Slices of crisp lettuce are a must in sandwiches but for a novel twist, shred the lettuce and mix it with peanut butter and you offer a new and tempting adventure in texture and flavor.

Crisp slices of raw apple, spread with cream cheese or cottage cheese, make a surprise, parified polish-off for school lunch at the same time supplying healthful pectin as well as having a detergent effect on the mouth and teeth.

The beneficent banana, packed with nourishment and providing needed bulk, shakes up with milk into just about the yummiest drink ever poured from a thermos bottle.
Be sure that your young hopeful's thermos is good and full because when he or she starts pouring this treat thirsty little friends will slide up wistfully.

Fresh fruit or vegetables salads look travel neatly to school in waxed paper cups, for exciting super-sandwiches and salads the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association suggests these head-of-their-class ideas.

CONSTIPATED?

Medical reports show how folk over 35 can establish regularity

After 35 irregularity often becomes a problem. When you need to know how to take medicine and help establish regularity. Such an aid to regularity is the daily use of SERUTAN.
Here's medical evidence: A group of men and women took SERUTAN daily under medical supervision. In case after case, regularity, taken daily, helped establish regularity. So, for real relief from constipation after 35, try SERUTAN, powder of granular.

Chesapeake Beach Woman's Club Opens Club Year

The Woman's Club of Chesapeake

Tuesday, September 8 at a luncheon meeting held at Basemore's Restau-

Club Institute program for new members was introduced by Mrs.
O. T. Edmondson and Mrs. E. A.
Hudson.

Club members welcomed Mrs.
Harry W. Fulford, Club President, who underwent major surgery in the summer, back. Mrs. Fulford was able to hold the meeting much to the delight of her members.

The annual Birthday Banquet and Husband's night will get the new club year off with a bang.
This affair will be held at the Pine Tree Inn, October 13 at 7 p.m. Mrs.
Ronald K. Irving and Mrs. Colon
H. Powers will be in charge of the program. Those serving on the Committee for this meeting will be Mrs. Carl Girard, Mrs. E. R.
Hines, Mrs. Curtis Hall, and Mrs.
Richard J. Vellines.

Chairman of the various departments reported on their proposed plans for the year. The activities discussed were:

Continuation of the Club's efforts in the Fine Arts field. Mrs. Richard J. Vellines will bring the Club members and residents of Bayside, a series of six Art Lessons, beginning on September 26. The classes will be held on Saturday afternoon from 2 until 4 p.m. for six weeks.

Mrs. Elizabeth D'Auria will be Art Instructor. Those desiring to attend these classes need not have had previous instruction. The classes are both for the novice and the advanced student. Registration will take place Saturday, September 19 from 2 until 3 p.m. Both registration and classes will be held in the Chesapeake Beach Community Center.

According to Mrs. L. E. Leding-ton, the Woman's Club will continue its work with the Red Cross, Princess Anne Chapter, Bloodmobile program. The Club has been doing this work for the free blood effort through the red cross for twelve years. The first bloodmobile will be held on September 18 beginning at 8 a.m. at the Little Creek Amphibious Base. The next program will be on October 18.

Mrs. Ronald K. Irving, International Relations Chairman, has presented a busy program for her department. The collecting of old eyeglasses for the overseas needy will again be carried out, and magazines will be sent to foreign students. The Virginia State Federation project of Care for Vietnam will be continued with card parties and lectures. This project will close with a Fashion Show and Dessert Card Party in the Spring.

Under Mrs. W. E. Downs, the Club's Health Department will provide transportation for a child to a Norfolk School for the Mentally Retarded. This department is now studying plans for a project to assist in the Maxitron program.
This is a State project to aid the Medical College of Virginia in procuring the Maxitron, a 2,000,000 volt x-ray machine for the treatment and research of cancer. Announcement of the Chesapeake Club's participation in this worthwhile undertaking will be announced as soon as plans are completed.
Once again, as they have for the past 13 years, Youth will be a big part of the Club year. This program is a Community service of the Woman's Club. Both Teen and Free-Teen Dances are given once each month on a membership basis.
All funds are used for refreshments and for recreation or equipment pertinent to Youth. This is not a money making project (of the Woman's Club. Mrs. W. F. Warrington and Mrs. H. E. Stanton will be in charge.

The Woman's Club has requested that a joint meeting of the Volunteer Fire Department and the Woman's Club be held with the Board of Directors of the Chesapeake Beach Community Center in September. The proposed meeting will be held for the purpose of closer cooperation of the two organizations in obtaining more efficient use of the Community Center, necessary change in rules due to increased use of the building, and better year-round maintenance. The Community Center is sponsored and maintained by the Woman's Club and the Fire Department.

SUMMER CAR CARE

Hot, dry summer weather is fine for family outings but it plays havoc with your car's finish and engine.

There is nothing more harmful than the sun's rays to an auto paint job. Regular maintenance can save break-breaking work later on. A good cleaning and waxing will do more to protect the finish of your car than anything else. If this is done early, regular wipings and washings will keep the car looking good all summer.

James E. Lightner of the Purator Automotive Research Bureau also cautions motorists of excessive engine wear during dry periods. Roads are dustier and the load on the oil and air filter is much heavier than at any other time of the year. Although automobile manufacturers recommend an oil filter change at 4,000 miles and an air filter change at least every 10,000 miles, it is wise to have your service station check these parts more regularly during the summer.

Attention to these minor maintenance recommendations might very well save costly repainting or engine overhaul later on.

LOOK CAREFULLY

At the time of this writing, the Corn Earworm population is rapidly decreasing. Therefore, be sure to check your fields before applying control measures.

Upon visiting many fields that have not been sprayed or dusted, I found damage moving from slight to heavy, however, most or all of the fields had very few corn earworms.

This decrease in population is probably due to three factors; rains could have washed away any eggs that were present, second, a fungus disease is now attacking both corn earworms and loopers, and third, parasites are taking their toll.

POSSIBILITIES

Even though we can find very few worms at this time, there is still a possibility of new infestation. I believe you should continue to watch carefully, especially for new insects such as the army worm and the velvet bean caterpillar.

CHANGE IN CONTROLS

V.P.I. has this week changed its control recommendations due to the heavier growth of foliage. It is now necessary to use more material in order to get the insecticide down to the insects.

V.P.I. is now recommending two (2) to four (4) quarts of the 25% DDT emulsion concentrate plus three (3) pints of toxaphene emulsion concentrate. This material should be mixed with sufficient water to spray at least four (4) gallons of liquid per acre. This is for airplane spraying. For ground equipment, the insecticide should be applied in 20 to 30 gallons of water per acre.

If a dust is desired, use a dust containing 5% DDT and 10% toxaphene applied at the rate of 25 to 50 pounds per acre.

1960 CONSERVATION RESERVE

Princess Anne Farmers! Here's a timely message from your ASC county committee. Sign-up time for the 1960 Conservation Reserve is just around the corner. Farmers wishing to place cropland under 1960 Conservation Reserve contract have until September 23 to contact the ASC county committee and have a basic farm payment rate established. So if you're interested, visit your ASC office soon. And when you come, be prepared to indicate which cropland you want to place under contract. Also bring along information about your crop acreages and yields for the past five years. ASC will do the rest - supply the rates and give other details.

CONSERVATION RESERVE

With the signing period of the 1960 Conservation Reserve Program under way, the Princess Anne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee outlined several major changes in the program for 1960. These changes include: 1. Cropland, the ownership of which has changed since December 31, 1956, is not eligible unless the change in ownership occurred because of inheritance as a result of death of the previous owner. (2) Land owned by a State, county, town, or other local unit of government or by social or recreational clubs and associations is not eligible. (3) Land which is rented for cash or a fixed amount of a commodity will not be approved for a contract at an annual rate higher than the rent per acre paid for the land. (4) A farm which has been operated by or with tenants during 1958 and 1959 will not be eligible for a contract unless tenants are designated on the contract to share in the annual payment. (5) A farm that was idle during both 1958 and 1959 is not eligible for a contract unless the farm was idle as a result of a Conservation Reserve agreement. (6) The rate of annual payment under a 1960 Conservation Reserve contract will not exceed the local fair rental value of the land as determined by the county committee on the basis of the record for the farm for the last five years.

In addition to the above major changes in the Conservation Reserve Program for 1960, a change in the method of approving applications for contracts has been made. The principal change is that applications offering land for which 1960 is the first year of the contract period cannot be accepted for contract unless the rate offered by the applicant is below the basic rate established for the land offered.

1959 CORN PRICE SUPPORT PROGRAM

A minimum basic price support rate for Virginia's 1959 corn crop of $1.23 per bushel has been announced. This rate applies to all counties in the State and has been determined on the basis of a national average support level of $1.12 per bushel.

1959 ASC COMMITTEE ELECTIONS

Princess Anne County farmers are reminded that it will soon be time again to name Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation community committeemen. To be elected are a committee chairman, vice-chairman, regular member, and two alternates in each District.

Committee elections, which are held yearly, are scheduled throughout this county and the State on October 7. The elections will be conducted by secret ballot. Ballotting will be by mail. Supervision of the election will be in charge of community election boards, each composed of three farmers who are not now on ASC committees.

W. F. Hunger, County ASC Committee Chairman, points out that the community election will be followed by a county convention, where a county ASC committee will be elected. The chairman of each community committee elected will be the community delegate to the county convention.

Farmers eligible to vote in the election are all those who have an interest in a farm as owner, tenant, or sharecropper. Each voter likewise must be a participant in or be eligible to participate in at least one of the programs administered locally by ASC committees.

WOOL REFERENDUM

County wool producers wanting a voice in the referendum on wool advertising and sales promotion must return ballots to the ASC County Office not later than September 30. Ballots were mailed to Princess Anne County on September 1.

PRINCESS ANNE COUNTY HOUSE, VIRGINIA

er 1, County ASC Chairman W. F. Hunger said.

The vote is to decide on the continuance of an agreement between the Secretary of Agriculture and American Sheep Producers Council, which calls for financing advertising and sales promotion of lamb and wool through deductions from producers' incentive payments. A similar program operated for the four years, 1955 through 1958, and the new agreement, if approved by a two-thirds majority, calls for extending the program 1960, and 1961 marketing years.

Deductions may not exceed 1 cent per pound of shorn wool marketed nor 5 cents per 100 pounds of live weight for unshorn lambs marketed.

Mr. Hunger stated that details on the referendum and the agreement are available at the ASC county office; also, producers who have not received a referendum ballot may apply for one through ASC. The Chairman urged growers not to delay in returning executed ballots by September 30 so that all county sheep and wool producers may participate in the vote.

1959 CORN PRICE

A minimum basic price support rate for Virginia's 1959 corn crop of $1.23 per bushel has been announced. This rate applies to all counties in the State and has been determined on the basis of a national average support level of $1.12 per bushel.

This is the minimum rate on which price support loans will be based prior to October 1. The final 1959 corn support rate will be determined on the basis of the party price for corn as of the beginning of the marketing year October 1 and will be announced soon after that date. In no case will the final rate be less than the announced minimum rate.

Corn acreage allotments in the commercial corn-producing area, in effect last year and for earlier years, are not in effect for the 1959 program as a result of a growers' referendum last December. Under the 1958 corn support program, with allotments in effect, the rate in the 82-county commercial area for complying farmers reflected $1.30 per bushel average support level. The rate was 30 cents per bushel below the compliance rate. Farmers who exceeded their allotments in 1958, in the non-commercial area, county support rates were 75 per cent of the comparable rates in the commercial area. Fifteen (15) counties in northern and eastern Virginia were considered to be within the commercial area last year.

As in other years, the 1959 corn price support program will be carried out through farm-stored and warehouse-stored loans and through purchase agreements. Warehouse-stored loans will be available to farmers from the time of harvest through May 31, 1960. Farm-stored loans and purchase agreements will be available through March 1, 1960. Loans will mature on July 31, 1960. However, because of difficulties in keeping corn in condition, farm-stored loans will be called on April 1, 1960. To be eligible for support, corn must have been produced in 1959. It must grade No. 3 or better except that corn grading No. 4 on the basis of test weight only will also be eligible.

FEEDER CATTLE

Look for fall feeder calf sale prices to average out close to last year's $31.75 for all classes. With more calves around and buyer confidence a little shaky about 1960 slaughter prices, sales this fall probably won't show the continued increases we have seen for several years.

Yearling sales may bring a little better prices, with buyers preferring the shorter feeding period as a hedge against price declines next year.

Slaughter cattle off grass may drop a little below last year later in the season. Cattle slaughter has been running behind last year as cattlemen held back breeding stock, but it has almost caught up now and will likely go a little above last year from now on.

In sales direct from the farm last week, good and choice calves under 500 pounds were bringing mostly $30 to $32, good and choice yearling steers $50 to $60, and two year old cattle $60 to $70.

If you plan to buy cattle or calves this fall for feeding or replacement, look at 1960 as the year cattle prices will start a long decline, after several years of upward trend.

There will still be some hold-back for herd building, but this will be more than offset by additional calves from the build up that has already occurred.

There probably won't be a real bust, but don't count on the usual rise in late winter and spring. Prices probably will go into a gradual decline.

If you were planning to increase your herd, better hold what you've got until prices hit their trough in the cycle.

If you plan to feed, yearlings with their shorter feeding period are the safest bet. Generally, the longer you wait to sell from now on, the lower the price will get. Remember, old-time feeders say that cheap corn seldom makes high cattle profits.

Seahawks Step Out of Class in Friday Game With Great Bridge

The Virginia Beach Seahawks looked sharp and smooth in their 9 to 0 win last week over a surprisingly strong Potomac team, but this Friday night the local eleven steps out of its class in meeting the Great Bridge Wildcats on the Seahawks gridiron.

Coach George Tepa's lack, after taking a sound drubbing from Deep Creek in the season's opener, came back to put on a good show for the homefolks last Friday night against Potomac.

In last week's game it was hard to single out any particular member of the victorious Seahawks, but the running of Hugh Kitchen and George Chappel was pleasing to Virginia Beach followers. In the line young Tommy Dennis was a standout.

Despite the win last week followers of the Seahawks hold little hope for the local this week as they are definitely the underdogs to a strong Great Bridge team that turned back a sound Princess Anne eleven in its season opener.

Coach Billy O'Brien will bring a veteran squad into the Seahawks stadium Friday night. He has eleven men at every position and has strong reserves.

Kickoff time is set for 8 p.m. After meeting Great Bridge this week the Seahawks will return to their own grid in their next meeting with James Blair.

Cavaliers Looking for Victory Number One Against Granby

The Princess Anne Cavaliers, smarting under two defeats in the first two games of the current grid season, is hoping to start on a winning way when they meet the Granby Blue Comets Friday night in Cox Stadium.

Coach Pete Sachon had expected to have a tie contender this year but the Cavaliers were up-ended

6 to 0 in the opener by Great Bridge and dropped a 20 to 6 decision to Norwalk last week.

Granby lost last week to Suffolk but looked impressive in racking up 277 yards through the air and on the ground.

Many expect to witness a passing game as each club boasts two good passers in Princess Anne's Billy Scripture and Granby's Mike Cahill.

Game time is set for 8 p.m.

CPA Certificates Awarded 23 at Luncheon Here

Some 23 new certified public accountants were presented with CPA certificates at a luncheon here today.

Ramon P. Deans and James A. Deans, both of Norfolk, and James Albert Davidson of Hampton were among the recipients of the certificates awarded to those who pass a rigorous examination and have acquired the necessary training and experience.

R. L. Persinger, Chairman of the Virginia State Board of Accountancy, presented the certificates at a luncheon of the Virginia Society of Certified Public Accountants.

The Society convened here Wednesday for a four-day observance of its 50th anniversary.

"The Certified Public Accountant is a trusted adviser to the top management of corporations and to other business executives," said Persinger.

"He advises his clients as to what financial records they need for sound business decisions, and he audits these records periodically to see that they are furnishing to management — and to stockholders and creditors — reliable information as to how the business is doing."

"Businessmen look to certified public accountants to give them the benefit of the experience and objectivity gained from intimate contact with the operations of many companies."

"Accounting is the language of modern business and more and more businessmen look to the CPA profession for help in using this vital language."

"All states use the same CPA examination, given on the same dates. The CPA is unique among professional men because he is given the same test no matter where he receives his certificate," he concluded.

A gold medal was awarded to James Gordon Rennie Jr., of Richmond. Rennie received the highest grade of any candidate taking the November, 1958 examination.

Others receiving their CPA certificates were: Alexandria: Clayton R. Keel, John Frank Keeley, Harry Edwin Rodda Jr., Arlington: Bernard M. Murphy, Daniel A. Norman, Henry B. Watson, Danville: Hugh H. Ingram Jr.; Elkton: Clinton A. Hensley; Hopewell: Arthur J. Kelly; Lynchburg: Gerry Kenneth Cole; Richmond: J. B. Drinkard Jr., Joseph P. Geiger, Harold V. Mims, Lawrence Clyde Noyes, Alvin R. Reynolds Jr.; Sandston: Kenneth C. Coleman; Staunton: Mrs. Katherine B. White; Washington, D.C.: Mrs. Frances Y. Grovermann; Atlanta, Ga.: Richard Edward McCallum.

NOTICE
In last week's issue of the Sun-News a picture of the Virginia Beach Babe Ruth baseball game champions was published. One member of the winning team was absent when the picture was made. He is Ray Whitehurst. We regret our failure to mention this fact.

YOUR CONGRESSMAN REPORTS

By Thomas N. Downing

After one of the longest sessions in peacetime history, the first Session of the 86th Congress of the United States finally adjourned at 6:23 on the morning of September 15, 1959. Looking back, I feel this Congress has produced a very credible legislative record. You and I may not agree as to the wisdom of some of the bills passed; however, for your information here is a brief resume of the major legislation enacted:

Hawaii was admitted as the 50th State in the Union.

The Mutual Security Program was continued, but less money was appropriated than recommended by President Eisenhower.

Labor reform, as a result of strong public demand protecting the rights of the individual worker and the general public.

A Housing Bill, acceptable to the President, embracing therein homes for the aged and dependents. He had vetoed two previous housing bills.

A cut in the President's Budget by approximately $1 billion dollars. You know that some people label Democrats as spenders, but the record will show that in the last five years the Democratic controlled Congress has cut the President's Budget recommendations by more than 10 billion dollars!

A Public Works Bill less than that set forth by the Administration but one which contains many improvements for the First District of Virginia including the enlargement of the present anchorage in Hampton Roads off Newport News, the dredging of the Chesapeake Bay, continued maintenance for the Dismal Swamp Canal and various other waterway projects.

Authorization of additional naval vessel construction, space research and atomic energy development.

Extension for one year of the 52 percent corporate income tax rate and the present excise tax rates on cigarettes, alcoholic beverages, automobiles, parts and accessories.

Provision for the end of the tax on local telephone calls as of June 30, 1960, and reducing the tax on passenger transportation from 10 to 5 percent.

An increase in benefits under the Railroad Retirement Act, and an increase in pension benefits for Veterans of World War I, World War II and Korea and their widows and children.

A five-year extension of the existing program for public health personnel and professional nurse training.

A temporary one-cent increase in the Federal gasoline tax in order that the interstate highway construction program may be continued.

I wish I could tell you all of the interesting details of this Congress, but time will not permit. Here are a few that come to mind:

Senator Fong of Hawaii became the first man of Chinese descent to be elected to the Senate.

The largest record vote in the history of the House of Representatives occurred when the Labor Bill was passed—a total of 430 Members present and voting.

hower's — It was on the Public Works Bill.

We watched the Republicans change their leadership in the House removing long time leader Joe Martin in favor of tough, energetic Charlie Halleck, who is now "Mr. Republican" so far as that party is concerned.

It was interesting too to watch "Mr. Democrat" Speaker Sam Rayburn, trying to placate the liberal Democrats from the North and the conservative Democrats from the South — it was a masterful job.

At the beginning of my first Session of Congress, one of the most distressing situations awaiting me was the Navy directive closing the installation at the Chesapeake Naval Air Base.

After numerous conferences and negotiations, it was gratifying to have NASA agree to utilize this Base. Indications are that there will be an increase in personnel from year to year until this station becomes one of the largest in the country.

As you know, the Atomic Energy Commission has from time to time suggested various dumping areas close to the shore of the Virginia coast for the disposal of low level atomic waste. We have constantly and persistently protested these proposals and thus far have been successful to insure complete protection to further commerce on the many navigable streams in this area.

One of the main interests to me since becoming a Member of Congress is a control of the staggering national debt. I sincerely believe that it is unfair to pass to future generations our own obligations and along with others, I have introduced appropriate legislation with respect to a program for the orderly retirement of the national debt.

We have also introduced legislation which will promote and protect our valuable oyster industry.

We are currently studying ways to assist watermen in setting proper stable markets for seafood products. The depressed prices for watermen have been responsible for a study being made at the next session of Congress to determine whether the watermen are securing adequate and fair prices for their products. Many complaints have been forthcoming that these prices are controlled by unfair competition.

I am happy to report that the Army has certified that Old Mill Creek Bridge in Hampton is important to the National Defense and this construction project will be started as soon as possible.

During this fall I plan to make a tour of the District and would like the opportunity of meeting as many constituents as possible. I have scheduled myself to be at the Clerk's Office in the various counties and cities at the time given below. Anyone who would care to see me pertaining to any local problem or just wanting to

'Sheriff Marr, Meet Sheriff Marr'

This was the introduction recently when the Marr Clan held a get together in California. Just what did Sheriff John E. Marr of Princess Anne County, Virginia, right, say to Sheriff Rolfe Marr of Lake County, California, when they met? Our Sheriff Marr was visiting his son, W. T. Marr in Long Beach, California, when he learned of Lake County's Sheriff Marr. The two Sheriff Marrs found a family tie and that they both belonged to the famous Gordon Clan and there was an ancient King Marr in Scotland. Our Marr learned that the Marrs first came to the United States in 1700 and the California Marrs had a picture showing the clan goes back as far as 1400. The original Marr settled in Maine and had four sons. Our Sheriff Marr is a descendant of this branch of the family. You can be sure nothing marred the interesting conversation between the two Marrs shown above. (Photo by Pat Lott.)

Former Resident Represents Junior Woman's Club at Convention Held in Manila, P. I.

Mrs. F. G. Trummer, former president of the Princess Anne Junior Woman's Club, now residing in the Philippines represented the Princess Anne Jrs. at the 68th Annual Convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and First Conference of Asian Women. The Convention was held in Manila.

During the convention, Mrs. Trummer was on a radio panel where she talked about the extensive work the Princess Anne Jrs. Woman's Club has done to promote international understanding.

At their September meeting one member of the Juniors, Mrs. Wm. Myers, was chosen to receive the beautiful gifts sent from the Philippines to our local club in appreciation of their help with the projects of the Philippine Jrs. Federation of Women's Clubs.

Sewing materials, books, crayons, toys for a nursery school, and other needed supplies were sent. The Philippines JFWC projects are a sewing center; community kitchen, and nursery school. By helping the Philippine Jrs. raise the standard

A barrel of medical supplies will soon be on its way to be used wherever needed in their country.

The Princess Anne Juniors are indebted to Mrs. Trummer for informing them of a way to help a far distant people. Yes, Lewis Trummer is truly a good will ambassador from our hometown of whom we are extremely proud.

Why we built two cars for 1960...
as different as night and day

On October 2—for the first time in Chevrolet's 49-year history—you will be able to walk into your dealer's showroom and see two totally different kinds of cars. One is the conventional 1960 Chevrolet, brand new in appearance and more beautifully refined and luxurious than you can imagine. The other is unlike any car we or anybody else ever built—the revolutionary Corvair, with the engine in the rear where it belongs in a compact car. We'd like to tell you why we built two such different cars, how we built them—and for whom we built them.

Why two kinds of cars? Because America itself has been going through some big changes in the past few years. Our cities have been straining at their seams. Traffic is jam-packed. Parking space is at a premium. And our suburbs have spread like wildfire. People are living farther from their work, driving more miles on crowded streets. There is now leisure time—but more things to do. There's a new standard of living—and more need for two cars in the family garage.

In short, America's automobile needs have become so complex that no one kind of car can satisfy them completely. That is why we at Chevrolet, keeping tab on these trends, have had a revolutionary compact car in the planning stages for more than nine years.

Thus, when we decided three years ago to prepare for production of such a car we were ready to build it the way it should be built. There was no need for a hasty "crash" program that would create only a second-class version of a conventional car.

That is why the two cars you will see in your dealer's showroom October 2 will be two entirely different kinds of cars. One is the conventional 1960 Chevrolet—brand new in beauty, with new gear inside, new sport under the hood, a new feeling of sumptuousness and luxury never before attained by any car in its field. There is great V8 power linked with new thrust, plus Chevrolet's superb 6-cylinder engine. It is a traditional car that comes even closer to perfection—in silence, in room, in ease of control, in velvety ride—than any other car we have ever made. The other is the Corvair, a compact car that is astonishingly different from anything ever built in this country. It has to be—because this is a six-passenger compact car, with a really remarkable performance... a car designed specifically to American standards of comfort, to American traffic needs.

The engine is in the rear. Among the basic advantages resulting from this engine location are better traction on a compact 108-inch wheelbase and a surprisingly flat floor. But to be placed in the rear, the engine had to be ultra light and ultra short. So Corvair's engine is totally new—mostly aluminum and air cooled; it weighs about 40 per cent less than conventional engines. It is a "flat" horizontally opposed six—so it is only three cylinders long... and that leaves a lot more room for passengers.

Another great saving: the modern airplane. The Corvair has no frame; the body-shell supplies its great structural strength... it's a welded unit that is virtually rattle-free.

The ride is fantastic. But to get it we had to design independent suspension at every wheel; conventional springing would give a compact car a choppy ride. Right now we'll make one prediction: no other U.S. compact car will ride so comfortably, hold the road so firmly and handle so beautifully. Now there are two kinds of cars from Chevrolet—because it takes two kinds of cars to serve America's needs today. If you love luxury—the utmost in luxury—and if you want generous interior space, breath-taking performance, automatic drives and power assists—then the conventional '60 Chevrolet may be your choice.

If easy parking, traffic agility and utmost economy are high on your list—then you should seriously consider the Corvair. But the best thing to do is to look these two new cars over at your Chevrolet dealer's... take them out for a drive. It may be that the only logical choice for your family between two cars like this is—both. They make a perfect pair.

Your Social Security

By: EARL W. TRIMBLE
Field Representative

Nobody likes to lose money yet a number of disabled persons in this area may do just that unless they file applications with their social security district office before October 1, 1959.

Until last August, disabled persons were receiving disability benefits under a Federal program or under Workmen's Compensation did not receive their full social security disability benefits. Under the old law the social security benefit amount had to be reduced by the amount of the other benefit being received by the disabled person. In many cases, this "offset" provision in the law had the effect of completely cancelling out the social security benefit.

Under these circumstances, a number of persons, knowing that no benefit was payable by social security, failed to file application. The 1956 amendments to the law eliminated the "offset" provision and it is now possible to pay eligible disabled persons their full social security benefit regardless of what other pension or benefit they may be receiving. These full payments can be made as far back as September 1956, if an application is filed before October 1, 1959.

Anyone who is severely disabled and who worked in employment or self-employment covered by social security for at least 5 years out of the 10 years before becoming disabled should contact the social security office at 220 W. Brambleton Ave., Norfolk 10, Va.

WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING

Ah, the Good Old Days

Once in a while you hear some citizen sigh nostalgically—and not a little idiosyncratically—for the good old days of the little red schoolhouse and of a long trudge through the snow to get there. This is the same citizen who will say that the sort of schooling that was good enough for Grandpa is good enough for today's youngsters.

Well, just what sort of schooling did this country offer in the good old days? The National Education Association has gone to some lengths to find out. Now it has issued a report based on a compendium of statistical tables assembled from many sources dating back as far as 1900.

At the turn of the century, the report shows, the average school term was 144 days. But in 1900 the average number of days actually attended by the pupils enrolled was only 99 (the snow must have been more than waist deep at times).

Again, in 1900, expenditures for public elementary and secondary education totaled less than $215 million as compared with more than $14 billion in the current year. And in 1900 only 17 million youths were in school at public expense and the high schools graduated only 95,000. Today 40 million are in the public schools and the high schools graduate 1,500,000 a year.

In 1900, only 11.4 per cent of the youths of high school age (14 to 17 years were in school; today it is 89 per cent. Only four per cent went to college; today 40 per cent are getting higher education. As recently as 1940, we were a nation with an eighth-grade education.

The good old days in education in this country are for the birds or for citizens with faulty memories. They are really only beginning with a wider appreciation of the need of better educational opportunities for all.

The National Outlook

Prospects for Security Prices

By Frank Robery

Millions of new citizens own stock in American corporations directly or indirectly through pension funds, insurance plans, savings banks, etc., and, to all of these persons, the price of securities is a matter of major importance, although the indirect holders may not be too aware of this. The behavior of the market also has a significant psychological effect upon business sentiment, and the market still is believed in many quarters to have substantial validity as a forecaster of the economic trend.

There are many ways to measure the market. The index which is most commonly used by those in the security business is that of Dow Jones. This is not the best of the averages, but Dow Jones is the only average which reports the individual transactions on the market, and its average is calculated on an hourly basis. Further, every important stock brokerage firm has a Dow Jones ticker.

Actually, the Dow Jones average is based on 30 stocks. These 30 stocks are based upon the behavior of thirty important securities; that for railroads is based upon twenty stocks, and the balance of the average is based upon fifteen stocks. Most of these three averages is of most interest to an individual depends, of course, upon the type of securities he holds, but the industrial average is most frequently quoted.

The high of the Dow Jones industrial average—the all-time high—was last August 3. On that day it reached 684. To appreciate what this means one needs to recall that as late as last November 23 the average was 541. Since the high of last August the market has been extremely nervous and has dropped, as this is written, by some fifty points. The big issue is what is going to happen from here on. Is the market being market over, or is this a mere technical correction?

As a foundation for attempting to answer such questions certain facts need to be made clear. At the moment, not only in dollars but in relation to past levels, but as related to earnings and prospective earnings. Even the yield on high grade stocks has dropped well below what can be obtained from the best bonds, including those of the United States Government. This was true in the late 1940's, but has not been the case since then until recently.

One factor contributing to stocks dropping bonds in regard to yield has been a general fear of inflation. It is widely believed that stocks offer better protection against rising commodity prices than any fixed interest obligation, because stocks can rise where bonds and mortgages have relatively little basis for capital appreciation.

Finally, one needs to remember that the sharp shake-out in recent weeks has been touched off by a growing tightness of money, which means rising interest rates. Fine the prime rate—the interest charged by banks 4 1/2 to 5 per cent, and all other rates were automatically increased. Then came, first the fear, and then the reality, of a rise in the discount rate to 4 per cent—the highest that rate has been since the early thirties. And it is generally believed that interest rates will continue to advance. It is also believed that the rate of saving in the economy may be slowed, and at the time that it must be slowed down.

Future Possibilities

Against this background it obviously is impossible to make firm predictions on the trend of stock prices. But certain impressions are feasible.

First, the market may well go to still lower levels, although a general collapse, or heavy sell-off, is not at all likely.

Secondly, the business cycle will continue upward for many months and this will add strength to the market.

Thirdly, there is no sound basis for concluding that the bull market has come to an end. We have been witnessing a fairly typical behavior and perhaps this will be continued for some time.

Finally, the market probably will recover, not only to its old high of 684, but to a level substantially above that figure. Among the careful students of the market a level of 725 is regarded as possible, but that will probably have to occur after the first of the year.

Reacting to All-Out War by Post Office

By Frank Robery

Obviously dealers who mail filthy material to minor children are attempting to evade the Post Office Department's drive to stamp out their racket by raising cries of "censorship," "freedom of speech," and "civil liberties." Postmaster Nash replies:

He said today that these racketeers, reacting to the Department's all-out war on them, are increasing their efforts to make use of "every legal device" to keep their filthy material from being seized.

In a recent report, Postmaster General Arthur H. Summerfield observed that lawyers retained by the dealers in obscenity "make a practice of harassing, delaying and confusing action until their clients often have gone free or received only small prison terms or fines."

"They are experts," the Postmaster General emphasized, "at raising wounding cries about censorship, 'freedom of the press,' and 'civil liberties.' And all too often, they are able to find willing pawn-takers to take up their cry and carry on their slimy battle for them."

The Post Office Department has appealed to the American public to recognize this "as the utter nonsense it is," pointing out that our society has many legal provisions aimed at protecting minor children from corrupting influences.

It has been noted many times in testimony before Congress, and in public statements, Postmaster Nash said, "that we have laws setting a minimum age for buying alcoholic beverages, we forbid traffic in narcotics, and attach severe penalties when it involves minor children; and we set minimum ages at which children are permitted to drive automobiles."

"Do these have anything to do with civil liberties, censorship, or freedom of the press? Of course they do not—no more so than does the protection of our children from the poison of obscene literature."

Fortunately, Postmaster Nash reported, the nation's press and American parents generally are "recognizing this smoke screen as sheer hypocrisy."

Summerfield warned all parents not to be misled by these appeals set up by the racketeers who profit in the corruption of youth.

Polo Games Prove Popular

Polo made its way to the Virginia Beach sector last Friday night and Sunday afternoon. The game proved popular with the spectators numbering 1,000 at each game.

Played on a large indoor rink, the two games were fast and exciting. It must be said the players' mounts were better than the average, a few showing up well above the rest. The exciting games had their thrilling moments at times becoming fast and furious.

The teams were the Washington All-Stars and the University of Virginia Alumni. The games were held at Greenbrier Farms, noted for its excellent horse shows and Gymkhana (children's classes).

In the first game Col. Joe Krumnick, a native of Pretoria, South Africa, now stationed with the government in Washington, was the player of long experience, and was true to his reputation. His team won by a score of 10-0. Col. Krumnick and his No. 2, Halter Cunningham, between them scored eight goals. Joe Claffy was credited with a single tally, while one of the ponies kicked the ball for an extra goal.

The Virginians put up a great battle with Dr. Herbert Jones leading with three goals. Jones is a fine player playing far below his rating. In the second chapter Dick Krumnick, of Milwaukee, at No. 2 was thrown from his pony breaking his leg and had to be removed to the U. S. Public Health Hospital. His place was taken by Cmdr. Robert Mohlan, who scored one goal. Through the game Dr. Jones dominated the play for Virginia.

In scoring three goals he also did fine work as back saving his team several scores. Leo Rocco at No. 1 is a fast man on a polo pony. At times he dashed in and out between the opposing players breaking up plays before they really started. Virginia of the whole played a far better game than the scoring showed.

In the Sunday game few polo fans gave the home team a chance. It was all in the "bag," but then there came a big surprise in the fourth and last period when Jones rallied his team after a poor start, came through and won 8-5. It was a thrilling surprise for the Virginia boys. Besides scoring three times they held the All-Stars scoreless.

News for Veterans

Harry F. Carper, Jr., Director of the Virginia Division of War Veterans' Claims, a State agency which assists veterans and survivors to obtain their lawful benefits, announces the following information of interest from his office in Norfolk.

The Veterans Administration announced last week that all persons on the VA pension rolls will receive with their check, due at the end of September, a summary of the provisions of the new pension act. Veterans who receive compensation for service connected disabilities will not be sent information about the new law because it does not apply to them.

The new law provides that pension rates will vary with the amount of other income received by the veteran and his dependent. The greater the other income, the lower the pension. When a veteran is living with his wife all of her income above $1200 must be counted, unless to do so would work a hardship upon the veteran. Also it will not be possible to waive any part of retirement annuities in order to receive V pension, and the net worth of a veteran, widow or child could lead to a determination of ineligibility.

World War II and Korean Conflict widows and children are placed on the same basis for pension eligibility as are those of WWI. All VA pensioners on the rolls before the effective date will not be affected unless they elect to qualify under the new program.

Since the new system does not go into operation until July 1, 1960 there will be plenty of time before then to learn all the details and to select an option. The VA is asking those interested not to write but to await the information which will be coming out at intervals during the next few months.

On-the-job training, also on-farm training and correspondence courses may not be taken under the War Orphans program, but most other types of school and college training may be taken. The courses must be those that carry approval for VA training under the Korean GI bill.

In some instances, handicapped children may begin a special vocational or restorative course as early as age 14. Such special training includes speech and voice correction, reading, Braille and writing and the like.

Generally an eligible young person may receive up to 36 months of schooling under the War Orphans program. Persons enrolled will receive $110 a month if enrolled full time $80 a month if enrolled three-quarters time and $50 a month if half-time.

Full information on the program can be secured from any VA office.

Thomas A. Moore, Norfolk service officer for the Division at 203 City Hall Avenue, will be pleased to assist and advise any person concerning veterans' affairs. Moore visits the Convention Center ("The Dome"), Pacific Avenue at 19th Street, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. only, on the second and fourth Thursdays each month.

FAMILY CAR TIP

CURES FOR ROUGH IDLE

Most car owners — especially those of us who drive under stop-and-go conditions — know the annoyance of rough idling and stalling. A bulletin from the Purulatur Automotive Research Bureau warns that a major cause of these problems is a clogged air filter. If your car seems to be "running rough," burning more gas than it should and stalling, the trouble might be that the dry-type carburetor air filter should be replaced. Purulatur also cites a few other causes of rough idle. They are carburetor in need of service, leaking intake manifold, ignition systems in need of service, defective automatic choke or uneven compression usually caused by worn valves or piston rings.

Purulatur advises customers to have the engine tuned and checked regularly and to have the air filter replaced according to manufacturer's recommendations.

The first meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association has been set for 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 29, in the school auditorium. It is hoped that the parents of new students entering this term will come to this meeting, as well as those parents who have given such splendid support and assistance in the past.

Boy Scout Activities
Scoutmaster C. L. Chastain, Troop No. 406, stated that the boys of his troop voted to hold elections of officers during their August meeting. The campaign was active and resulted in a capable group of leaders selected to guide the troop throughout a good program of scouting and camping. Those elected to office were: Senior Patrol Leader, Jack Pruitt; assistant senior patrol leaders, Mark Davis and Jay Ferguson; scribe, Frankie LaGrange; bugler, Mike Rasnick; librarian, James Walker; patrol leaders, Tommy Chastain, Dennis Teasley, Ray Ferguson, Bernard Woody, and Robbie Lord.

The following Scouts passed the Advancement Board of Review and were honored at a Court of Honor on Aug. 28: Bronze Palm for Eagle Scout Frankie LaGrange; Eagle Scout to Jimmy Vaughn; Life Scout to Bernard Woody; Star Scout to James Walker and Dennis Teasley; First Class Scout to David McIntock and Joe Boyd; Second Class Scout to David Hines, Mike Rasnick and Michael Creel; Richard Carroll passed Tenderfoot with the Scoutmaster.

Jimmy Vaughn will be honored at a special court which will be set up in the near future. Jimmy is the first boy to pass Eagle Scout rank in Troop No. 406. To attain such rank of Eagle Scout a boy must devote considerable time and effort to Scout work and Jimmy is to be congratulated for this significant gain in scouting which will prove of great benefit to him along life's way.

Scouting produces tops in all manner of ways—The District Fishing Derby at Virginia Beach Steel Pier brought to light two winners from the troop. Mike Stello won a wrist watch for the prize for catching the largest fish and Dennis Teasley won a Scout axe as second prize. Although Scout attendance at the fishing derby was not heavy, it appears that the best fishermen were on the spot for action. The Scout troop building now under construction will soon be completed and it is hoped that meetings will soon take place in these new quarters. The Scouts who were awarded the Indian Lore Merit Badges at summer camp have organized an Indian Dance Team and purchased costumes. Their dance presentations before the troop will add good entertainment to our troop meetings.

Time Marches On!
Time marches on but the youth of Aragona Village keep pace and those parents and leaders who serve as managers, coaches and assistants in carrying the baseball teams through a vigorous season this summer are not likely to "hibernate" for the winter. Despite a well-earned "rest," the "pig-skin-bug" has already entrenched itself under the skin of that hardy group of young bloods who do so much to add the zest of living for the youngsters in Aragona Village. Midget and Junior football teams are holding practice sessions daily at the Aragona Elementary School yard. To qualify for the team, a junior candidate must be 15 years old during the year of 1959 and he must also weigh no more than 150. Boys who reach the age of 15 after 1959 have no weight limit. Candidates for the Midget team must be 13 years old during 1959 and weigh not more than 115 pounds. There is no weight limit for boys under that age. Weight limits need be met only once, prior to the first game a candidate plays, although a physical examination by a doctor is required for all players of both leagues. This medical examination is a responsibility of the candidate's parents and a written certificate signed by the doctor is required. An accident insurance policy is also mandatory, and such a policy is available at a cost of $2.00 Team coach for the Junior team is Bill Barone of 1121 Sline Ave. who stated that Junior team starts practice at 6 p.m. The boys interested in playing with the Junior team are requested to telephone Mr. Barone at GY 7-0567. Each team is permitted to carry 22 players and 15 boys had already signed up a short time ago. Coaches for the Midget team are Jim Peebles and Jim Hippis, and the Midget roster is all but filled. Schedules are being formulated and the season begins the last week in September. A great season is anticipated if enthusiasm to play is a symptom. The coaches urge that those signing up for the team give sufficient time for practice—this makes for teamwork and scores. Sponsors for the teams are needed and anyone interested in joining in this worthwhile activity are requested to telephone Gypsy 7-0567 and/or GY 7-0397.

Telephone GY 7-3442

Aragona Garden Club

The weather man has contributed his share to the activities of the Aragona Garden Club and those active members who attended the first meeting of the season held early this month show promise of producing a successful show of beautiful winter lawns, shrubs and flowers which have added greatly to the Aragona Village community during the past few years. Mrs. Bernice McCarthy, president, stated that the club would be glad to give advice and information to residents in the Village and called attention to the fact that the Agriculture Experimental Station situated on Highway Route No. 166 between Lansdale Circle and Highway Route No. 66 (Shore Drive) would make tests of samples of soil and give data and advice as to the fertilizer requirements, and other related problems. Now is the time to start work for a beautiful winter lawn and to pave the way for next spring and summer plantings.

Musical Revue Well Under Way
Several projects are in the formative stage in an effort to create a substantial building fund for the Recreation Center. Mrs. Spika has sent out an urgent call to ask for help in arranging costumes and make-up back stage for the musical revue planned for the near future. Those individuals who would enjoy getting into the fun are requested to telephone Mrs. Spika at GY 7-1207.

Bookmobile Scheduled for Early Visit

Announcement will be made soon as to the date of the next visit of the Bookmobile to the Aragona Shopping Center. This service in the past has proved of keen interest and benefit. Watch for the date.

Students and faculty members at the Virginia Beach High School are busy preparing for the Educational Forum to be held on Monday, September 28, at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The school program will be explained by Principal James A. Johnson, Jr., and the teachers and student leaders will be introduced. There will be a short period following the meeting when the parents may meet and talk with the teachers in their rooms, after which refreshments will be served in the cafeteria.

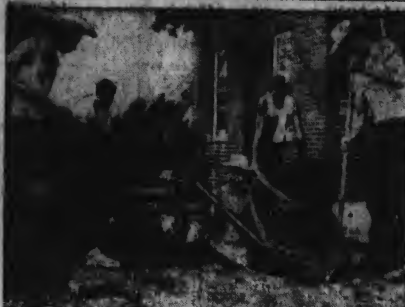

During the general meeting the parent representatives will be recognized. The parent representatives are the fathers and mothers of the Student Co-operative Association officers; the officers of the senior, junior, sophomore, freshman and 8th grade classes; and the officers of the twenty-one home-rooms.

Jehovah's Witnesses Conclude Convention Here on Note of Hope

Jehovah's Witnesses of Virginia Circuit No. 1 heard Kenneth R. Savoy, Watchtower official, declare that "The Divine Will" will be realized within this generation.

Savoy, delivering the key lecture of the three-day Bible training convention held in Virginia Beach, stated Sunday afternoon that "the purpose of God's Kingdom coming is not to destroy the earth but to insure that his will will be done in the earth even as it is done in heaven."

"Removal of the present world order of things and its replacement by a righteous society under the rule of God's Kingdom is what the 'Divine Will' means for this earth and its inhabitants. He concluded, citing as proof, fulfilled prophecies recorded in the gospel accounts.

The theme, "Do The Divine Will," permeated the entire conference program. All sessions, by means of dramatizations and lectures, dealt with the congregational and house-to-house ministry of the Witnesses. According to Curtis Whitehurst of the Public Relations Department, each Witness is recognized as a minister in his own right, and their assemblies are not revival meetings but training sessions to aid each minister to perfect his individual teaching technique.

"For efficiency, Jehovah's Witnesses apply the methods used by Jesus and his Apostles," Whitehurst said. "Preaching in public places is nothing new. Christ himself taught others in the thoroughfares. Luke 13:16 is proof of this." "At Acts 20:20, the Apostle Paul sets a precedent for Jehovah's Witnesses to conduct their house to house evangelistic work, and at 1 Corin. 11:1 he admonishes all to be followers of Jesus example even as he was," he added.

Five congregational meetings are held weekly to train the Witnesses in the art of teaching. "To complete each minister's initial training, he accompanies a mature minister in the field ministry. Whitehurst explained stating further that, "our training never really ends because the ministry being progressive requires the minister likewise to advance."

"Witnesses in communist dominated countries are often denied the privileges of the training program such as we have enjoyed here in Virginia Beach," he said, "but the preaching of the good news of God's now established Kingdom goes right on, mouth to mouth, underground, often from memory and at the risk of life itself. In fact, we have enjoyed our greatest expansion in these countries. People under dictatorial governments show the greatest appreciation for the Kingdom message."

There are now over 700,000 Witnesses world-wide participating in our house to house ministry. We have enjoyed a 100% expansion in number of teachers since 1950, the spokesman pointed out.

"We hope that our assembly here at Virginia Beach will lay the groundwork for a future congregation here," he stated.

CG Academy Exams Slated For Feb. 23, 24

Applications are now being accepted for the 1960 Coast Guard Academy examinations. Rear Admiral P. V. Colmar, Commander, Fifth Coast Guard District announced today.

The competitive examinations will be held on February 23 and 24 in some 120 U. S. cities. Successful applicants will be admitted to a four-year course of instruction at the Academy, located at New London, Connecticut, which provides career officers for the regular Coast Guard.

Admiral Colmar has stressed the fact that appointments are based solely on the competitive examinations and prospective adaptability to military life. There are no Congressional appointments or geographical quotas.

An applicant must be a high school senior or graduate who has reached his 17th but not his 22nd birthday on July 1, 1960.

Applicants still in high school must graduate and earn 15 credits by June 30, 1960. The credits must include three in English, two in Algebra and one in Plane Geometry.

Applicants must be in excellent physical condition, between five-foot four-inches and six-foot six-inches in height, with proportionate weight, and have uncorrected 20/20 vision in each eye.

The Academy curriculum includes academic subject and military training. Courses are conducted in engineering, the humanities and subjects related to the professional duties of a Coast Guard officer. During their training Coast Guard cadets are paid $1,333.80 per year.

Upon completion of training at the Academy cadets are commissioned as ensigns in the Coast Guard and awarded bachelor of science degrees.

Extra-curricular activities offered include a variety of clubs and athletics. Coast Guard teams compete with many colleges in football, basketball, swimming, track, and other major sports.

Coast Guard cadets spend a portion of a summer at sea, training aboard the bark Eagle and major cutters. Past training cruises have taken the cadets to such interesting ports of call as Amsterdam, London, Copenhagen, Dublin, and Antwerp.

The Coast Guard is a military service and is one of the five Armed Forces. While history finds the Coast Guard fighting in all of our wars with many recorded deeds of valor, traditionally the service takes its greatest pride in peacetime activities.

Law Enforcement, Aids to Navigation, Merchant Marine Safety, Boating Safety, Search and Rescue, Ocean Weather Stations, International Ice Patrol, and many other duties provide aid and comfort to people of all nations using the air or sea lanes. Its duties are truly humanitarian and it is the successful performance of their jobs that gives real satisfaction to Coast Guard men everywhere.

For the Academy graduate, training is available in such fields as business administration, communications, civil engineering, electronics, oceanography, law, naval construction, and marine engineering. Post-graduate courses are conducted at advance military schools and leading universities and colleges throughout the country.

Aviation is of increasing importance to Coast Guard operations, calling for many young officers to enter this exciting branch of the Coast Guard's organization for disaster on the sea or land, during peace or war.

An information booklet and application forms for entering the Coast Guard Academy may be obtained by writing the Commandant (PTP-2), U. S. Coast Guard, Washington 25, D. C. The completed applications forms must be returned by January 10, 1960.

The MIXING BOWL..

IT'S Fun TO COOK

by LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

For the very latest in food tips and tidbits... for practical, down-to-earth recipes that please both palate
and pocketbook, read the "Mixing Bowl" by Lucile
Clark each Thursday in the Sun-News.

"Spectaculars" aren't restricted to television. You can have a spectacular on your dining table and eat it, too. If you serve this Swiss Strata Salad.

An eye-catching concoction, it's a lot easier to prepare than it looks.
It simply consists of Swissland
Swiss cheese, macaroni, sliced scallions, chopped pimientos and tomatoe slices dressed with French dressing and layered in your prettiest glass bowl or vase.

Equally tempting for summer meals are Alpine Potato Salad and Emmenthal Medley salad. Both are appropriate for soiling-temperature suppers.

You'll enjoy the delicious flavor and heartiness of Swissland Swiss cheese adds to salads. This classic cheese from the Alps is one of the world's great cheeses and its incomparable flavor can't be duplicated so be sure and look for the word "Swissland" stamped on the rind in red when you buy it by the piece. If you decide to purchase packaged slices, the seal of the traditional cheese producers of Switzerland on the wrapping will assure you that you are getting genuine Swiss cheese from Switzerland.

Alpine Potato Salad
1 cup sliced Swissland Swiss cheese (about 1 pound)
3 cups sliced cooked potatoes
1 cup sliced celery
3 tablespoons chopped green pepper onions

1 1/2 cups can or jar of pimientos, chopped
1 large tomato, sliced
Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil.
Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.
Rinse with cold water; drain.
Combine macaroni and 1/2 cup
French dressing; toss lightly. Chill.

BUILD SOIL WITH FERTILIZED COVER

"Built-in" fertility that only well-fertilized cover crops can give is the key to higher soybean profits in Virginia.

Since soybeans respond better to high fertility levels in the soil than to direct fertilization, growers should build up the soil fertility for cover crops. A cover crop grown without fertilizer can be no better than the soil on which it is grown, and often provides little soil protection. It can maintain but not improve the soil. But a cover crop with adequate fertilizer will mesh more organic matter to turn under and will improve the general fertility of the soil.

I am concerned about fields that are left completely bare after harvest. They need winter cover. Wind and water erosion can be a serious problem. Since cover crops following soybeans are usually seeded late, adequate cover has not been obtained in many cases on soils low in fertility. Fertilizer applied at the time of seeding on these soils will promote faster ground cover, prevent erosion, and provide supplemental grazing when needed. Start now to increase profits next year by growing better cover crops.

CORN

Look for corn prices to stay steady to slightly weaker in Virginia during the next few weeks.

There is no reason to rush your corn to market and lose price-wise because of high moisture. Better let it stay in the field a little longer if necessary. Right now, you may expect moisture discounts to run one and a half cents for each one half of a per cent of 15 1/2 per cent up to 20 per cent with discounts slightly higher in some markets for moisture over 20 per cent. If your corn is over 25 per cent moisture, it is definitely to your advantage to let it dry a little longer in the field.

This is a good year to harvest your corn in the ear and take advantage of the government loan. Number three ear corn with a maximum of 20 1/2 per cent moisture will bring you the $1.23 loan rate. Shell corn in storage must not go over the 13 1/2 per cent mark for moisture to comply with loan requirements.

The nation's corn crop is up production-wise by per cent from the last estimate on August 1. Production is now slated to run 4,882,000,000 bushels—that's 15 per cent over the previous record of last year and 35 per cent above the ten year average.

SOYBEANS

Look for the market price on soybeans to hold steady to slightly weaker at harvest. However, a good bet for soybeans is still storage. All indications point to prices moving above loan levels later in the year.

It looks like production will fall short of meeting the estimated demand for both export and domestic markets. Latest estimate (September 1) on U.S. production shows 3,326,000 bushels which is seven per cent below last year.

Virginia crop prospects tally up four percent less than a year ago. This is mainly due to lower prospects for late planted beans. Virginia support this year is $1.80 a bushel and for the nation $1.85.

FORT STORY TELLINGS

STORY UNIT RETURN FROM FAR NORTH

Two Fort Story units returned last week from resupply missions in the Far North. Arriving at Hampton Roads Army Terminal were the 568th Transportation Company and a detachment from the 417th Transportation Company.

The 568th performed resupply missions for the Air Force in Sondrestrom, Greenland. Commanded by Capt. W. O. Rockwell, the unit left for Greenland in the latter part of May and has been unloading vessels ever since.

Operating as a mobile terminal, the detachment from the 417th, commanded by Capt. A. J. Yard, did not work on established ports but over beaches to resupply communication sites along the Gaspine Line. This is a supplement to the Distant Early Warning Line.

These resupply missions take place during the summer months as it would be nearly impossible to operate with the harsh winter weather. Even in the summer, reports tell, bits of ice and cold were a major factor in holding operations down to a slow pace.

Two more Fort Story units are still on northern operations near Goose Bay, Labrador. They are the 155th and the 568th Transportation Companies and are due to return in November.

At one time all BARCs were located at Fort Story. Now, there are eight in Taiwan, four in France, two in New Orleans and four at Fort Story.

STORY NCO GETS SUPER GRADE
First Sergeant Jacob Miller of the 347th Transportation Co., was promoted to the new "Super Grade," E-8, this month.

Sergeant Miller, a veteran of over 15 years service, served with the 14th Armored Infantry Battalion, 1st Armored Division, during World War II, participating in three major battles and with the 89th Tank Battalion, 25th Infantry Division during the Korean Conflict, with five campaigns to his credit.

Among the "Top Soldier's" decorations, he wears the Combat Infantryman's Badge and the Bronze Star.

Sergeant Miller resides at Bay-side, Virginia with his wife, the former Marie Boyd of Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, their two daughters, Jacqueline and Janice, and son Jacob Milton.

Moving day

Moving to a new house was simpler fifty years ago. The movers toted in the furniture and set up the stove. You filled the lamps. And you were ready to keep house... the hard way!

Today's electric homemaking aids call for a little more planning. But how wonderfully worth it they are! So, before you move, be sure the power's ready for them. And that means allowing time for three things...

First, time for the electrical contractor to install modern Housepower wiring. Next, time for the city or county inspector to go over the job. Only after he gives his written okay can VEPCO install the cable from the power line to your Housepower meter box. While VEPCO does this free on installations of 100 amperes or more, it does need some advance notice.

So, well before M-day, check up on those first two steps. Then VEPCO can do its part promptly. And you'll be ready to move in and start housekeeping the easy way. ELECTRICALLY!

FAMILY CAR TIP

DON'T PLAY IT BY EAR.
"The sound of an engine isn't always a good indication of its efficiency. So say the engineers of Champion Spark Plug Company who have issued a report on the results of an unusual test.
Although Champion engineers normally use special electronic devices to detect spark plug mis-fire, they utilized atmospheric "field" recording equipment in this case. Tape recordings were made of several engines, with microphones placed at three locations simultaneously.
This highly sensitive equipment was unable to pick up any audible trace of engine roughness resulting from spark plug misfiring, yet in each case the spark plugs were known to have been ready for replacement. Tests proved that these engines, which "sounded good," were wasting up to ten percent of normal gas consumption.
Moral of the story, reports Champion, is not to wait until the engine sounds or feels rough or sluggish before servicing or replacing spark plugs. You might be throwing away one gallon of gasoline in ten.

She'll Never Neglect Him...

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a cornerstone of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Mrs. Thompson is a "modern" mother. She wouldn't think of neglecting her baby's regular visit to the doctor. She doesn't let her baby check-up plus proper diet, rest and exercise vital if her child is to grow up into a strong, healthy boy, ready to take his place in tomorrow's world.

Now will she forget an even more important check-up in his development—his spiritual check-up. When the time comes and baby is old enough, his tiny presence will lead him into Church School where another kind of ministry will be given to him. Later still, he will worship with his parents, and the importance of the family unit together at work, at play and in worship will be ingrained in his mind.

In tomorrow's world he will be well equipped to take his place physically, mentally, and spiritually.

PLANT FOOD ABSORBED BY CORN DURING DIFFERENT PERIODS OF GROWTH

This is one of the interesting facts found in a research project carried on jointly by the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station and the United States Department of Agriculture. In this experiment, they measured not only the amount of growth produced, but the amount of plant food absorbed during different periods.

The yield of corn in this experiment was approximately 100 bushels, and the total weight of dry matter (above ground) was 12,387 pounds. Weights of the various parts of the plant at maturity were as follows: Leaves - 1,531 lbs., Stems - 3,402 lbs., Husks - 1,179 lbs., Cobs - 989 lbs., Grain - 5,723 lbs., Total - 12,844 lbs.

The weight of the roots was not determined in the experiment. However, corn root studies made by Fahrenbacher and Snider at the Illinois Experiment Station indicated the root growth for a 100-bushel crop of corn would amount to about 5,350 pounds.

In the Ohio experiment, the 100-bushel crop of corn used 144 pounds of nitrogen, 30 pounds of phosphorus, and 98 pounds of potassium. The amount of potassium in the corn plant actually reached 113 pounds. This high point was reached in August. After about August 25, the amount gradually decreased because of loss of potassium from the plant.

During the first month after planting, the corn crop took up only 2% of the total nitrogen absorbed during the entire growing season. Two per cent of the 144 pounds of total nitrogen would amount to only about three pounds. By July 1, the corn plant had taken up 15 pounds of nitrogen per acre. The corn crop therefore does not have to have a large amount of nitrogen available during the first month to six weeks after planting.

During the third month, however, from July 20 to August 19, the plants took up about 67 pounds of nitrogen, or almost half of the total requirement. The greatest intake of nitrogen occurred during the last few days of July when the plants took up an average of four pounds per acre per day. This heavy requirement occurred about tasseling and silking time.

The plant absorbed only 1 per cent of phosphorus during the first month, but during the third month from July 20 to August 19, they took up almost half of their total requirement for phosphorus. It is interesting to note that corn plants take up potassium much earlier than they do nitrogen or phosphorus. In the Ohio tests, they took up 90 per cent of their potassium requirement during the second month. The maximum rate of potassium intake occurred during the second month when an average of 3.2 pounds per acre entered the plant. The potassium reached its maximum about three weeks after silking. After that time there was an actual loss, largely from the leaves and stems. Potassium may be partly washed from the leaves and stems back into the soil, or it may move back into the soil through the root system.

Results of this study show that, if high yields are to be produced, the soil has to be able to supply large amounts of plant food to the corn crop during the period of rapid growth, and here is where the soil test comes in.

The soil tests will tell whether limestone, phosphate, and potash are needed and how much of each is needed per acre to supply the crop with plenty of plant food during the period of most rapid growth.

Testing to find out whether your soil can supply your corn crop with plenty of nitrogen when it needs it is neither so simple nor so satisfactory, as testing for other elements. But previous cropping and soil treatment practices can be used as a guide in estimating nitrogen needs.

PLAN NOW FOR A MORE PROFITABLE LAMB CROP

The shepherd who gives plenty of attention now to his breeding flocks can count on a larger, more profitable lamb crop next year.

The breeding flock needs to be kept in a healthy growing condition. This means controlling parasites and disease, and providing suitable pasture.

If the flock received the mid-summer parasite treatments, this should be enough until November when the entire flock should be treated with phenothiazine. Phenothiazine salt will help control internal parasites, but cannot replace the individual treatments.

Foot rot can become a serious problem and must be kept under control to insure a satisfactory and uniform breeding season.

Ewes will settle easier and raise a larger, more uniform lamb crop if they make slight gains in weight during the breeding season and until they lamb. Best results can be expected if ewes gain 25 to 30 pounds from breeding until lamb-ing. Half of the weight increase should be made starting the month before lambing, so only slight gains are needed during the breeding season.

Rams must be kept in a healthy, active condition. No more than 35 ewes should be kept with a mature ram. A marking harness or paint on a ram's chest will help you keep track of lambing dates and help locate a non-breeding ram in time to replace him. Always separate rams from the ewes one month before lambing time and keep them separate until the next breeding season.

Winter pasture and good quality legume hay are necessary for profitable lamb production. Plan to seed small grain or other winter pasture as early as possible, and choose your hay for the sheep before the winter feeding season starts.

UNEVENNESS TO CHARACTERIZE HOG PRICES IN SEPTEMBER

Hog prices during September will be going through a period of unevenness with considerable variation due to changes in market receipts.

In general, prices probably average near the $14.50 to $15.00 range over most of the period. Further general price declines are in prospect, but may not occur until later in October and November.

The usual summer advance in hog prices has been practically nonexistent because summer marketings were larger than expected. A smoother than usual marketing pattern also should help keep this fall's price decline smaller than usual. A November low of $13 to $13 for top hogs and $12 average price for all hogs would seem highly probable.

Prices will probably range from $11 to $13 through the first quarter of 1960. The former seems more likely if this fall's low prices encourage producer's to liquidate part of their breeding herds.

The spring pig crop was 12 per cent larger than the '58 spring pig crop and was the largest pig crop recorded since 1961. Producers say they will have 8 per cent more sows farrow this fall than last fall. With an allowance for the upward trend in pigs saved per litter, the fall pig crop will total near 46 million head.

An annual pig crop of near 105 million head seems highly likely. Such a crop will exceed that of '58 by 10 percent and represents the largest pig crop since 1943. Because of the large crop, prices will probably remain considerably below those of the past 12 months during the coming year.

Hog slaughter continues cyclically larger. Total hog slaughter during the first half of 1959 was 17 percent above the same period of last year. A slight increase in average slaughter weights also increased pork production. Hog slaughter is normally considerably lower during the summer months than the rest of the year, and cold storage stocks are relied upon for a portion of pork supplies during this period. Little seasonal lull has occurred in hog slaughter thus far this summer, however, and this has been a major factor in preventing any seasonal improvement in prices.

Since the beginning of 1959 hog prices have moved toward a lower level. They have averaged, during the first half, about $5 below the same period a year ago. The highest average price for all hogs during 1959 was recorded during the first week of the year.

Conversely, the lowest average price recorded thus far this year came during the latter part of July. Some slight improvement in prices has occurred since this low, but this improvement is largely a reflection of a slight reduction in market receipts from previous weeks.

Little possibility for any substantial improvement in the general level of hog prices seems likely since the large spring pig crop will begin to arrive at markets in the very near future.

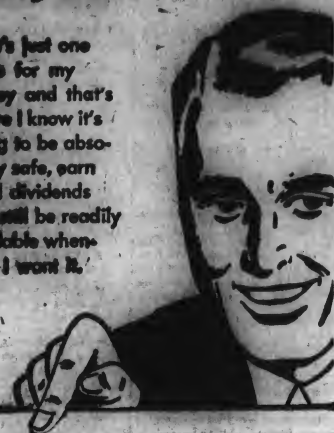

INFLATION HITS THE WORM MARKET

A check on the prices of eggs and fishing worms in southwest Virginia brings to light the fact that night crawlers are selling for 10 cents a dozen more than eggs. VPI specialists (with tongue in cheek) say that instead of poultrymen putting all their eggs in one
